

Brutal Slaying Writes End To Ohio Girl's N.Y. Dream

VICKERY, Ohio (AP)—Little Deborah Neil had planned to abandon her runaway adventure and return home from New York City more than two weeks ago.

But violent death intervened. Today the 13-year-old youngster — apparently a victim of the side of life she went East to see — was back home awaiting burial in this tiny Sandusky County town.

The body of the 5-foot-2, 98-pound youngster was found July 15 at the bottom of an airshaft in a dingy tenement on New York's Lower East Side.

Police said she had been raped and hurled alive from a fifth-floor window.

Since then, the girl had lain unidentified and unclaimed in the morgue.

On Wednesday, Deborah's father, Charles B. Neil, a Vickery crane operator, and two of the girl's uncles, who had pooled their money to charter a plane, flew to New York. They identified the body and brought Deborah home on the same plane.

Deborah, with reddish-brown hair and wearing hippie beads, and a boy friend, Stephen Eckhardt, 17, ran away from home July 13 and hitchhiked to New York.

Her parents reported her missing to Sandusky police, but New York authorities thought the girl found dead in the airshaft was older than 13 and, therefore, had not contacted the Neil family until this week.

Charged with homicide and rape in Deborah's death are Ronald Alfio, 26, a commercial artist, and David Thomas Jr., 30, a porter. They claimed they never knew the girl they are accused of killing.

New York police said Alfio accosted the girl on a Lower East Side street and offered to sell her marijuana.

The boy friend, Eckhardt, was charged on a fictitious errand. Detectives said, and Thomas and Alfio took the girl to the latter's tenement flat.

Deborah's father said his daughter had telephoned July 14 and told her parents she would return home the following day — the day she died. Eckhardt, who has returned home, said Wednesday that he and Debbie decided to hitchhike to New York "to try the hippie life." He said he felt "just sick" when he learned of the girl's death.

Eckhardt said he and Debbie arrived in New York about 3 a.m. July 14 and spent the night in Washington Park in Greenwich Village.

The next day, Eckhardt said Debbie met two older girls and went off with them. He said the girls promised to put her up for awhile and help her get home.

Eckhardt said it was the last time he saw Debbie. They had been together for about 12 hours in the city.

Urbana Air Crash Blamed On Jetliner

Excessive Speed In Restricted Area Said Cause

WASHINGTON (AP)—Excessive speed by a commercial jet airliner was cited officially Wednesday as the cause of a collision over the Dayton-Springfield, Ohio, area on March 9, 1967, that took 26 lives.

The National Transportation Safety Board said the Trans World Airlines DC 9 jet was flying 83 miles an hour faster than the airplane speed limit for the area.

The board attributed the accident to the jet's excessive speed and to failure of its crew to see and avoid the other plane.

The crash occurred as the DC9 approached the Dayton Airport for a landing. It collided with a Tann Co. Beechcraft Baron at an altitude of 4,500 feet.

The TWA plane, with 21 passengers and a crew of four, was on a scheduled flight from New York to Chicago by way of Harrisburg, Pa., Pittsburgh and Dayton.

The actual crash of the planes took place in Champaign County west of Urbana, the county seat.

The DC9 was operating on an instrument flight in visual weather conditions, descending from 20,000 feet to 3,000 feet. Eighteen seconds before the collision it was advised that there was southbound slow moving traffic one mile away "at 12:30," the clockwise term for direction.

The "traffic" was the Beechcraft. The board said the Beechcraft was not under the control of or in radio contact with any FAA air traffic control facility, and there was no requirement for the pilot to contact any FAA air traffic control facility.

The flight recorder recovered from the TWA plane showed that it was traveling at just over 371 miles an hour at the time of the collision.

Dismiss Vietnam Legality Suit

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A suit challenging legality of U.S. military action in Vietnam was dismissed Wednesday in U.S. District Court.

Judge George Templar ruled the plaintiff, Lawrence R. Velvel, a University of Kansas law school professor, lacked standing to bring such a suit; that the case presented a political question not subject to judicial action, and was in effect a suit against the United States.

Bob Cook Shows Top Market Lamb

Bob Cook, a member of the Madison Live Wires 4-H Club, exhibited the grand champion market lamb in the Junior Fair Sheep Show at the Pickaway County Fair.

Pen of three champion is Rae Fenstermaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fenstermaker, Route 2, Williamsport. She is a member of Deer Creek Livestock 4-H Club.

Reserve champion market lamb was shown by Steve Bower, while reserve champion pen of three was exhibited by Linda Allen. Cook's middleweight lamb won best in his division. Runner up was Debbie Cook. Lightweight winner was Becky Cook and second was Wendy Brown.

BOWER exhibited the champion heavyweight sheep and Wayne Brown was runner up. Cook is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cook, Route 1, Ashville.

Ron Guenther was the judge of the show.

Midway Chatter

Yesterday's rain storm drove the Fairgoers inside the buildings. The bleachers in the judging arena were packed.

Roof leaks on the coliseum, rather badly in spots. Homer Long, who was manning the booth set up by the Ohio Division of Parks, noted he was kind of lucky. The rain was pouring in just a few feet from him but he stayed dry.

Roger May, who is helping the Agricultural Society with the fair, was just about as wet as you can get. During the rainstorm, he helped set up a tent that had blown down.

Then a storm drain on the midway was not functioning properly, so he had to dig it out. By the time the rain stopped, he found time to get in the dry.

Race Secretary John Fissell postponed the harness races until today when the storm hit and then today had to cancel them.

his home only minutes before the decision to postpone was made, and he had the trip to Circleville for nothing.

He did, however, reach presiding judge Robert Steele before he left Scioto Downs.

Fissell apologized for the necessity to cancel the races. However, the 4-H Horse Show is being held on the track before the grandstand today. With the track very soft from all the rain, Fissell said it would be impossible to get it into shape.

He had anticipated many scratches in the delayed program, also contributing to the decision to call off the races.

Earl Martin has for many years groomed the track for the harness races. This year he came back from Lake Erie to help out.

Ed Johnson, a former Tri-County Farm Bureau director and local radio personality, visited the fair Wednesday. Johnson is now associated with

4,000 Troops Fly from U.S. To DMZ Area

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy force inflicted heavy casualties of 16 killed and 39 wounded on two companies of South Vietnamese irregulars led by U.S. Green Beret men in a battle close to the Cambodian border, the Saigon government reported today.

South Vietnamese headquarters found after the hard battle Wednesday 65 miles northwest of Saigon on one of the enemy routes from the Cambodian border to the capital.

All the casualties in the government force apparently were Vietnamese irregulars. There was no report of any among the U.S. Special Forces men who train and lead the irregulars.

Initial reports indicated the government force was ambushed, although military spokesmen did not say so. They said two companies of irregulars—perhaps 200 men or more—clashed with an enemy force of unknown size along the border. The spokesman said the government troops destroyed 150 fortified positions in the battle area.

Tay Ninh Province, where the battle occurred, is believed to be the major staging area for the big Communist offensive which allied intelligence men expect the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to launch against Saigon in the next two months.

The North Vietnamese 9th Infantry Division and two independent regiments are said to be at secret base camps in the area preparing for the Communist offensive.

America's biggest bombers, Air Force B52s, have been attacking the enemy camp areas in Tay Ninh Province daily with thousands of tons of bombs. The eight-jet bombers flew seven more missions against base camps, troop concentrations and antiaircraft positions in the area near the border.

In another critical sector, the defense of South Vietnam's northern frontier was stiffened by 4,000 fresh American troops flown from a Colorado base in

Big Steel Ignores President's Plea Of Price Rollback

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nation's top three steelmakers have posted their most sweeping price hikes in six years and say they will stand despite sharp criticism from President Johnson.

Other producers strongly hinted they would follow.

U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., and Republic Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1, 2 and 3 steelmakers respectively, raised prices Wednesday, the day after the United Steelworkers union won its richest contract.

Johnson called Bethlehem's nearly 5 per cent across-the-board hike "unreasonable" and said at a Washington news conference that it "just should not be permitted to stand."

Edmund F. Martin, Bethlehem's chairman and chief executive officer, replied: "Our announcement... speaks for itself. In our opinion, our price increase is absolutely necessary and we do not intend to withdraw it."

Johnson, asked if he planned "any instruments" to compel a rollback, said, "We urge them and reason with them and counsel with them and plead with them not to increase prices."

Republic Steel followed Bethlehem and said it would hike its principal steel mill products 4.5 per cent and said the new labor contract was the reason. The Bethlehem and Republic increases are effective Aug. 8.

U.S. Steel, acting in a manner that has become common in the industry in the past six years, announced a selective price increase for its tin mill products, material used in making cans.

Commenting on the union's billion-dollar plus settlement, Johnson said, "The terms of their settlement are high. That settlement will result in some increases in steel costs, but the announced Bethlehem price increase far exceeds any reasonable calculation of the cost of the wage settlement."

LBJ Sees Viet Offensive, Blasts Steel Price Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the nation can expect a massive attack by the enemy in Vietnam and possible "dire economic consequences" at home over a steel price boost.

The President says he is discouraged over the infiltration and troop buildup by North Vietnam in the South and lack of response, so far, to the U.S. bombing restraint.

But, he expressed hope the enemy will match the restraint and that the attack, which he said appears imminent against major South Vietnamese cities, "could be aborted."

He cautioned Hanoi that the U.S. might have to act promptly with additional military measures if they "put our men in danger."

Calling an impromptu news conference in the Cabinet Room of the White House late Wednesday afternoon, the President issued a blast at Bethlehem Steel Corp. for its announced 5 per cent across-the-board price increase effective Aug. 8, the first such blanket price hike in the industry since President John F. Kennedy's confrontation with the steel titans in 1962.

Pointing to the possible inflationary consequences from pricing decision he said could affect the entire economy, Johnson declared: "Inflation for steel is inflation for the nation."

Johnson said he hoped other steel companies "will not join this parade" and that competitive factors would then "bring about a readjustment on the action the Bethlehem company has taken."

The price boost came before representatives of industry and the United Steelworkers Union could sign a new labor contract expected to raise wages and fringe benefits by at least six per cent a year over the next three years.

Johnson called the settlement high. Pointing to a 41 per cent first half increase in profits for the No. 2 steelmaker, Johnson said "the public interest must be recognized by the entire industry in its price decisions at this critical time."

The 42-minute session with reporters, longer than usual, covered only a few topics.

The President concentrated on Vietnam and the economy. But he also spoke out publicly for the first time—and at length—on his controversial nominations of Abe Fortas to be chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Johnson said he thought he promoted "two good men," both judged highly qualified by the American Bar Association. "I have no doubt but what a very substantial majority in the Senate believes them qualified," he added.

DuPont Buys Walton Farm

The DuPont Company has exercised an option to purchase a property of approximately 300 acres known as the Walton farm adjacent to the Circleville Film Plant, Samuel P. Foster, Plant Manager, announced today.

Foster said that there are no plans for construction of facilities on the newly acquired land at present. The property will be available for long range plant expansion when needed.

The Ward W. Walton farm follows the South boundary of the present plant property from the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad tracks on the east to the Scioto River on the west.

Volcano Death Toll Reaches 78

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — An estimated 90 persons were still missing in the shadow of erupting Mt. Arenal today as the known death toll rose to 78.

The latest reported victims in the volcano disaster that began Monday were eight rescue workers who were caught by a fresh explosion of the volcano Wednesday.

Ohio Guard Officer Unveils New Riot Control Proposals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso says a Columbus attorney's views on riot control deserve close study.

Del Corso described the attorney, James J. Hughes, 31, a captain in the Ohio National Guard legal section and a Democratic candidate for state representative, as a fine officer.

Hughes made five proposals in a report to the adjutant general. The report is a standard "after action" report filed after the Cleveland riot. He suggested:

—A new minimum pay rate for the Guard, which has been mobilized eight times since April 1.

—Purchase of communications equipment which would enable guard and police units to inter-communicate.

—The employment of the Ohio Highway Patrol wherever rioting breaks out. At present the patrol can only be used for riot control on state property.

—A state curfew law which could be invoked as necessary.

—An automatic ban on liquor sales in riot areas.

"The last Ohio Legislature raised the minimum ONG pay rate from $6 per day to $12.80," said Del Corso.

He said that he sought to minimize the hardship caused to men who earned more than that in regular employment by rotating duty as much as possible between units.

The general rejected a suggestion that the state was using guardsmen as cheap labor in a Guard force at the Ohio Penitentiary. Troops have been on duty there for the last 14 days.

Hughes had urged that guardsmen should receive the same pay as local police officers or prison guards when called in to do their work.

Col. Robert H. Chiaramonte, Highway Patrol superintendent, said legislative action would be needed to permit his men to perform riot control duties other than on state property.

But, he pointed out, within an hour of being notified of the June 24 riot at the Ohio Penitentiary, he had 90 men on duty there.

The speed with which the patrol can mobilize an effective riot control force has been cited as an argument in favor of giving the force wider jurisdiction.

Roundtown

ONE year and a month after it was mailed from Ft. Bragg, N.C., by Larry Leist, a letter reached his parents here in Circleville. There was 15 cents postage due, but the mailman told the Leists that "he just didn't have the heart to collect it."

THE heaviest rainfall of the month was measured Wednesday when 1.34 inches fell in the Roundtown area bringing the total rainfall for the month of July to 1.96 inches, a deficit of 2.32 inches. The high temperature reading for the month was a humid 93 degrees on July 17. The low reading was the recent cool 50 degrees on Sunday night.

McCarthy, HHH Ticket Discounted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy joining to run together on the Democratic national ticket are discounted by sources in both camps.

Although the two Minnesotans, the only contenders now in sight for the Democratic presidential nomination, are miles apart over the key Vietnam issue, some Democrats have suggested that McCarthy might become Humphrey's running mate.

"This is not outside the realm of possibility," one highly placed Humphrey source says, "but it would require a major change of attitude... You could not have the presidential and the vice presidential candidates at marked odds on Vietnam."

McCarthy is a strong critic of the Johnson administration's Vietnam policies, while Humphrey basically has adhered to the President's position.

A McCarthy aide, echoing the comments from the Humphrey people, said such a combination would require a 180-degree turn in the views of one or the other of the contenders. If McCarthy were to change his stand, the aide said, his "supporters would consider it a repudiation of all who rallied around him."

Besides, McCarthy isn't interested in being vice president, the aide said.

Rocky Backers Claim Progress in Stop-Nixon Drive

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Buoyed by a favorable national poll, backers of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller claimed progress today in their battle to hold favorite sons in line against any early ballot decision on the presidential nomination at next week's GOP convention.

A Louis Harris poll that showed the New York governor could defeat the leading Democratic contenders and that Richard M. Nixon would lose to them gave the Rockefeller camp new ammunition in its effort to ward off a possible convention blitz attempt by the former vice president.

In this connection, one of Rockefeller's strategists reported that Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio had made a commitment to hold his 58-vote state delegation intact behind his favorite son candidacy through the first two ballots.

Supporters of Nixon scoffed at this claim. They noted that Rhodes has said his course will be determined by a state caucus before the convention opens Monday. They said they have what they call reliable indications that Rhodes prefers Nixon.

At this point favorite sons from Alaska, California, Hawaii, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey and Ohio are presumed to control 288 of the 667 votes needed for the nomination. To prevent Nixon from winning the prize on the first roll call, or on the second, Rockefeller's camp must prevent the bulk of these from jumping on any Nixon bandwagon.

There has been no cohesion among the favorite sons and Gov. Ronald Reagan, heading California's power-packed 86-vote delegation—with public commitments of 86 votes in other areas—spurned any coalition. He said he would not participate in a "stop" movement against Nixon or any other candidate.

Both the Nixon and Rockefeller forces recognize Reagan as a full-fledged, if unannounced, contender for the top nomination. Neither is counting on Reagan's support, short of a possible eventual offer of the vice presidential nomination both believe he would accept under certain circumstances.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan announced Wednesday on his arrival in this sun-broiled resort city that he expects to meet Monday with Rhodes and Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland.

Romney quit the race for the presidential nomination in March.

The Michigan governor, an unpredictable operator who had been touted for the top nomination by Rockefeller, has declined thus far to throw his 42-vote state delegation behind any aspirant for the nomination.

On the Democratic side, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said South Vietnam should be run by the people who live there, not by Hanoi or Washington.

But Humphrey did not reply directly when asked at a Washington news conference if the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front should be included in free elections. He said the statement was the same thing he'd said 45 times before.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, in New York, termed Secretary of State Dean Rusk's call for North Vietnam to specify what its response to a bombing halt would be as "just another statement by Rusk that seems uncalled for."

McCarthy said Rusk's comment was discouraging both to negotiators in Paris and to people at home who hope for results from the Paris peace explorations.

The drive to force a recall election to oust California Gov. Reagan appears to have fallen short of the necessary 780,414 petition signatures.

Unofficial reports from 14 California counties where the drive was concentrated indicated about 500,000 signatures were collected before the Wednesday deadline.

Deborah, with reddish-brown hair and wearing hippie beads, and a boy friend, Stephen Eckhardt, who has returned home, said Wednesday that he and Debbie decided to hitchhike to New York "to try the hippie life." He said he felt "just sick" when he learned of the girl's death.

Midway Chatter

Yesterday's rain storm drove the Fairgoers inside the buildings. The bleachers in the judging arena were packed.

Roof leaks on the coliseum, rather badly in spots. Homer Long, who was manning the booth set up by the Ohio Division of Parks, noted he was kind of lucky. The rain was pouring in just a few feet from him but he stayed dry.

Roger May, who is helping the Agricultural Society with the fair, was just about as wet as you can get. During the rainstorm, he helped set up a tent that had blown down.

Then a storm drain on the midway was not functioning properly, so he had to dig it out. By the time the rain stopped, he found time to get in the dry.

Race Secretary John Fissell postponed the harness races until today when the storm hit and then today had to cancel them.

his home only minutes before the decision to postpone was made, and he had the trip to Circleville for nothing.

He did, however, reach presiding judge Robert Steele before he left Scioto Downs.

Fissell apologized for the necessity to cancel the races. However, the 4-H Horse Show is being held on the track before the grandstand today. With the track very soft from all the rain, Fissell said it would be impossible to get it into shape.

He had anticipated many scratches in the delayed program, also contributing to the decision to call off the races.

Earl Martin has for many years groomed the track for the harness races. This year he came back from Lake Erie to help out.

4,000 Troops Fly from U.S. To DMZ Area

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy force inflicted heavy casualties of 16 killed and 39 wounded on two companies of South Vietnamese irregulars led by U.S. Green Beret men in a battle close to the Cambodian border, the Saigon government reported today.

South Vietnamese headquarters were found after the hard battle Wednesday 65 miles northwest of Saigon on one of the enemy routes from the Cambodian border to the capital.

All the casualties in the government force apparently were Vietnamese irregulars. There was no report of any among the U.S. Special Forces men who train and lead the irregulars.

Initial reports indicated the government force was ambushed, although military spokesmen did not say so. They said two companies of irregulars—perhaps 200 men or more—clashed with an enemy force of unknown size along the border. The spokesman said the government troops destroyed 150 fortified positions in the battle area.

Tay Ninh Province, where the battle occurred, is believed to be the major staging area for the big Communist offensive which allied intelligence men expect the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to launch against Saigon in the next two months.

The North Vietnamese 9th Infantry Division and two independent regiments are said to be at secret base camps in the area preparing for the Communist offensive.

America's biggest bombers, Air Force B52s, have been attacking the enemy camp areas in Tay Ninh Province daily with thousands of tons of bombs. The eight-jet bombers flew seven more missions against base camps, troop concentrations and antiaircraft positions in the area near the border.

In another critical sector, the defense of South Vietnam's northern frontier was stiffened by 4,000 fresh American troops flown from a Colorado base in

Hubert Changes Vietnam Stand Within Hours

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has delivered one of his strongest endorsements of the Johnson administration only a few hours after he seemingly was at odds with some of the President's Vietnam policies.

"I do not want to run for the presidency by turning my back upon those who have stood with me and repudiating the good works of my party, my president and his predecessors," Humphrey told a 500-a-plate fund-raising dinner Wednesday night.

This followed an earlier Wednesday speech when he said in connection with Vietnam that "I'm trying to make my views compatible with the government of the United States—and I'm having a little trouble with that."

Ed Johnson, a former Tri-County Farm Bureau director and local radio personality, visited the fair Wednesday. Johnson is now associated with

Big Steel Ignores President's Plea Of Price Rollback

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nation's top three steelmakers have posted their most sweeping price hikes in six years and say they will stand despite sharp criticism from President Johnson.

Other producers strongly hinted they would follow.

U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., and Republic Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1, 2 and 3 steelmakers respectively, raised prices Wednesday, the day after the United Steelworkers union won its richest contract.

Johnson called Bethlehem's nearly 5 per cent across-the-board hike "unreasonable" and said at a Washington news conference that it "just should not be permitted to stand."

Edmund F. Martin, Bethlehem's chairman and chief executive officer, replied: "Our announcement . . . speaks for itself. In our opinion, our price increase is absolutely necessary and we do not intend to withdraw it."

LBJ Sees Viet Offensive, Blasts Steel Price Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the nation can expect a massive attack by the enemy in Vietnam and possible "dire economic consequences" at home over a steel price boost.

The President says he is discouraged over the infiltration and troop buildup by North Vietnam in the South and lack of response, so far, to the U.S. bombing restraint.

But, he expressed hope the enemy will match the restraint and that the attack, which he said appears imminent against major South Vietnamese cities, "could be aborted."

He cautioned that the U.S. might have to act promptly with additional military measures if they "put our men in danger."

Calling an impromptu news conference in the Cabinet Room of the White House late Wednesday afternoon, the President issued a blast at Bethlehem Steel Corp. for its announced 5 per cent across-the-board price increase effective Aug. 8, the first such blanket price hike in the industry since President John F. Kennedy's confrontation with the steel titans in 1962.

Pointing to the possible inflationary consequences from pricing decision he said could affect the entire economy, Johnson declared:

"Inflation for steel is inflation for the nation."

Johnson said he hoped other steel companies "will not join this parade" and that competitive factors would then "bring about a readjustment on the action the Bethlehem company has taken."

The price boost came before representatives of industry and the United Steelworkers Union could sign a new labor contract expected to raise wages and fringe benefits by at least six its response to a bombing halt would be as "just another statement by Rusk that seems uncalled for."

McCarthy said Rusk's comment was discouraging both to negotiators in Paris and to people at home who hope for results from the Paris peace explorations.

The drive to force a recall election to oust California Gov. Reagan appears to have fallen short of the necessary 780,414 petition signatures.

Unofficial reports from 14 California counties where the drive was concentrated indicated about 500,000 signatures were collected before the Wednesday deadline.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, in New York, termed Secretary of State Dean Rusk's call for North Vietnam to specify what

Johnson, asked if he planned "any instruments" to compel a rollback, said, "We urge them and reason with them and counsel with them and plead with them not to" increase prices.

Republic Steel followed Bethlehem and said it would hike its principal steel mill products 4.5 per cent and said the new labor contract was the reason. The Bethlehem and Republic increases are effective Aug. 8.

U.S. Steel, acting in a manner that has become common in the industry in the past six years, announced a selective price increase for its tin mill products, material used in making cans.

Commenting on the union's billion-dollar plus settlement, Johnson said, "The terms of their settlement are high. That settlement will result in some increases in steel costs, but the announced Bethlehem price increase far exceeds any reasonable calculation of the cost of the wage settlement."

per cent a year over the next three years.

Johnson called the settlement high. Pointing to a 41 per cent first half increase in profits for the No. 2 steelmaker, Johnson said "the public interest must be recognized by the entire industry in its price decisions at this critical time."

The 42-minute session with reporters, longer than usual, covered only a few topics.

The President concentrated on Vietnam and the economy.

But he also spoke out publicly for the first time—and at length—on his controversial nominations of Abe Fortas to be chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Johnson said he thought he promoted "two good men," both judged highly qualified by the American Bar Association. "I have no doubt but what a very substantial majority in the Senate believes them qualified," he added.

DuPont Buys Walton Farm

The DuPont Company has exercised an option to purchase a property of approximately 300 acres known as the Walton farm adjacent to the Circleville Film Plant, Samuel P. Foster, Plant Manager, announced today.

Foster said that there are no plans for construction of facilities on the newly acquired land at present. The property will be available for long range plant expansion when needed.

The Ward W. Walton farm follows the South boundary of the present plant property from the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad tracks on the east to the Scioto River on the west.

Claim Oklahoma Patrol Car Crash Caused by Prisoner

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—A Ft. Sill soldier accused Wednesday of the auto deaths of two law enforcement officers also is facing a month-old homicide charge in Ohio resulting from a car death.

Police in Elyria, Ohio, said Wednesday Pvt. Marvin Gibson Jr., of Youngstown, Ohio is accused of being the driver of a stolen vehicle that sped through five traffic lights June 29, striking another car broadside.

The fatal crash came at an intersection as police pursued a car following the armed robbery of an Elyria service station. A North Ridgefield, Ohio, motorist died of burns and other injuries five hours after the accident.

Gibson was charged Wednesday in Stillwater with murder after the auto in which he was being taken to the Payne County Jail crashed, killing two Payne County officers.

He was accused of "interfering" with the car when it went out of control and struck another auto headon 6 1/2 miles east of Stillwater.

Killed in the crash were Cushing Police Chief O. O. "Joe" Rowden and Payne County deputy sheriff Jerry Beall.

Beall reportedly was driving the vehicle and Gibson was charged specifically with his death. Shortly after the crash, police were investigating a report that Gibson grabbed the steering wheel of the car.

Both Gibson and another prisoner being transported at the time were injured.

32 Burned In Gasoline Tank Blast

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A gasoline storage tank exploded Wednesday night, rocketing a huge fireball into the air and burning 32 persons.

Four of the injured were reported in critical condition today. Hospitals kept two dozen under treatment overnight.

The ground level tank, filled with 5,000 gallons of gasoline, blew up a service station, the Red Bal Gas House, on U.S. 287 in suburban Kennedale, five miles southeast of Fort Worth.

Witnesses estimated the ball of fire reached 200 feet in diameter as it shot 125 feet aloft.

Firemen and employees at the service station said a small blaze started an hour earlier from a leak as a tank truck pumped fuel into the station's underground tanks.

They said this presumably spread to the surface tank and the eruption followed. There were nearly 20 smaller blasts as cans of oil and other fuel also exploded.

Stock Market Trims Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—A vigorous early rally in the stock market began to lose some of its steam this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

An initial margin of 2 to 1 in favor of gains over losses was trimmed. More than 300 more gainers than losers prevailed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon showed a small rise of .3 at 332.4, with industrials up .7, rails off .5, and utilities up .8.

The strike-averting steel-labor settlement, followed by price increases, heated the inflationary atmosphere. More fuel was added by the sharp increase in the consumer price index and by reports of price increases in various other industries.

Steel shares were slightly higher on balance at the start, and they displayed a mixed pattern later as some specially situated issues took sharp losses. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.32 at 884.32, having backed away from a gain of 4.63 at the end of the first hour.

Prices advanced vigorously on the American Stock Exchange.

113 Ohio Army Reservists Fight Call to Active Duty

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A group of 113 Army Reservists from Ohio contend in a U.S. District Court suit that their call to active duty violated their constitutional rights.

The Ohioans, members of the 1002nd Supply and Service Company on inactive duty in Cleveland, were notified last April they would be activated as a unit for two years, effective May 13.

Three days later, they said, they were moved to Ft. Meade, Md., as the 1002nd Combat Support Co.

They brought suit against Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford; Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor; Gen. Harold K. Johnson, then Army chief of staff, and the commanding officers of Ft. Meade and the 1st Army, headquartered at Meade.

The soldiers contend they "could not, under the terms of their enlistment contracts, legally be ordered to active duty without their consent except in time of war declared by Congress or national emergency declared by the President."

Their petition to the court said each of them enlisted in the Army Reserve before Oct. 15, 1966, with an obligation to serve six years on inactive duty, and no more than 17 days a year on active duty for training before being assigned to the Cleveland unit, they said.

Making a distinction between reservists called up as a unit, as in this case, and those called up as individuals, violates the equal protection provision of the Fifth Amendment, the suit contended.

Nixon Gives Viet War Position

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said today the United States must seek a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam War, but must prepare for new military and diplomatic approaches if the Paris Vietnam peace talks fail.

Three days later, they said, they were moved to Ft. Meade, Md., as the 1002nd Combat Support Co.

They brought suit against Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford; Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor; Gen. Harold K. Johnson, then Army chief of staff, and the commanding officers of Ft. Meade and the 1st Army, headquartered at Meade.

The soldiers contend they "could not, under the terms of their enlistment contracts, legally be ordered to active duty without their consent except in time of war declared by Congress or national emergency declared by the President."

Their petition to the court said each of them enlisted in the Army Reserve before Oct. 15, 1966, with an obligation to serve six years on inactive duty, and no more than 17 days a year on active duty. Each had served on active duty for training before being assigned to the Cleveland unit, they said.

Making a distinction between reservists called up as a unit, as in this case, and those called up as individuals, violates the equal protection provision of the Fifth Amendment, the suit contended.

Sheriff Attends Conference on Riot Control

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff attended a conference on riot control held by the Northwest District Sheriff's Conference in Findlay recently.

Pickaway County is not part of the northwest conference, but Sheriff Radcliff stated that he attended the meeting anyhow to hear discussion of a program for pooling men and resources in case of rioting.

The program, which is set up at a cost of about $200 per county, will be considered by the Southwest District Sheriff's Conference, which includes Pickaway County, in the near future.

Nixon Gives Viet War Position

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Richard M. Nixon said today the United States must seek a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam War, but must prepare for new military and diplomatic approaches if the Paris Vietnam peace talks fail.

The Republican presidential nomination seeker said that "rather than further escalation on the military front," the present need is for "a dramatic escalation of our efforts on the economic, political, diplomatic and psychological fronts."

SYMBOL OF HOPE

FLOWERS express man's hope for everlasting peace. Their delicate beauty and fragrance shut out doubt and darkness by symbolizing the love we hold for those we've lost.

And, because we love, we grieve. But, because we have faith, we look forward to immortality. To our soul's unspoken question on these solemn occasions, flowers whisper comfortingly, "Hope!"

When you can't be there with those who grieve, Flowers-By-Wire carry your sympathy across the miles.

New Church Built at Darbyville

Dedication Service of the Darbyville Church of the Nazarene is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 4. Dr. Harvey S. Galloway, superintendent of the Central Ohio District Church of the Nazarene will present the sermon.

The church in Darbyville was organized May 20, 1951 by Dr. Galloway following a six week revival. The Rev. D. E. Clay, who was pastor of the Circleville Church of the Nazarene at that time, and Lawrence Martindale alternated in preaching the first week. Rev. C. C. Coolidge, evangelist and his wife were in charge for the remaining five weeks of the revival.

Services were held in a cement block building which had been formerly used as a theater. The congregation continued to worship there until April of this year. On Palm Sunday the first service was held in the new church.

Mr. Martindale has served as pastor since the beginning of the church in Darbyville.

DEDICATION — The Darbyville Church of the Nazarene will hold dedication ceremonies 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the new church.

GOP Polls Confusing

NEW YORK (AP) — Take it from Dr. Gallup, if the presidential election were held at the end of July, Richard M. Nixon would defeat either Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy or Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Or if you'd rather take it from Lou Harris, either McCarthy or Humphrey would defeat Nixon.

As for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the Gallup Poll has him in a tie with Humphrey and a virtual tie with McCarthy. Harris has Rockefeller beating both Humphrey and McCarthy.

In Miami Beach, Nixon supporters claim they have the Republican nomination assured on the basis of the Gallup Poll. Rockefeller sees himself leading the Democratic presidential hopefuls outside the South and an aide smells a nominating victory.

Rhode Island, the nation's smallest state, has the longest official name — "State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations."

Chloromycetin Production Off after Senate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson has said production of the antibiotic Chloromycetin dropped sharply following disclosure of dangerous side effects but said the major producer, Parke, Davis & Co., looks towards increased sales.

It is tremendously important that the (FDA) Food and Drug Administration makes certain we don't go back to exposing millions of people to this drug for totally unnecessary reasons," Nelson told the Senate.

The Wisconsin Democrat attributed the 78 per cent drop in production of the drug to hearings by his small business monopoly subcommittee and a subsequent FDA warning that the drug has extremely limited application and can cause such dangerous blood disorders as leukemia and aplastic anemia.

"This whole episode is a special and telling indictment of the American Medical Association and its leadership which failed to adequately inform the profession of the alarming misuse of this drug while at the same time accepting for the AMA Journal misleading advertising from the company promoting the drug," he said.

The hearings showed that Chloromycetin, whose generic name is Chloramphenicol, should be used only in treating typhoid fever "and a very limited number of serious diseases which fail to respond to other treatment," the senator added.

It was being used for such ailments as colds, sore throats, flu and acne.

The FDA announced Friday it has ordered a halt to further marketing of the drug pending studies. The action does not affect supplies now on the market which it said will meet current needs.

In the July 22, 1968 issue of FDC Reports, Nelson said, Dr. Austin Smith, president of Parke, Davis, is quoted as attributing the drop in production to the Nelson subcommittee hearings and the FDA warning.

Noting that a state of California study showed one of every 24,000 users died agonizing deaths from fatal blood diseases attributed to the drug, Nelson said that as a result of the hearings "thousands of people have been spared untold agony, and there is no way of knowing how many lives have been spared."

In Chicago, an AMA spokesman said the AMA Journal has for several years carried articles and items giving detailed information about Chloromyctin and precautions on its use. The spokesman said the AMA's 1967 edition of New Drugs devotes an entire page to precautions on the use of the drug and adverse reactions that have occurred from its use.

Air Traffic Jam

Unlike slowdowns occasionally imposed by unions to extract higher wages, airport tower operators at Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark airports, serving the New York City metropolitan area, appear to be following the book purely in the interest of safety.

Traffic at the three airports, particularly Kennedy, has reached the saturation point for ever-lengthening "peak" periods.

Nearly three million travelers pass in and out of the three airports these summer months. Operations in June averaged 5,910 flights daily — 900 more than this time last year.

To cope with this traffic crush, tower operators have been adhering strictly to Federal Aviation Administration rules which require that aircraft within 40 miles of a radar-equipped airport be separated by a distance of three miles.

That is why stackups of flights to Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark have started as far away as Pittsburgh.

One immediate need is for more tower operators, since many are working six days a week and exceeding 40 hours a week — a heavy strain at work as demanding and exhausting as theirs. While the operators appear satisfied with their starting pay of $12,000 a year, more manpower obviously is needed.

House and Senate have cooperated to the extent of authorizing the training of at least 1,500 additional tower controllers. More tower operators can improve safety by relieving the strain on presently overworked personnel.

Spreading the peak loads by forced rescheduling would help, but this is resisted by airlines and customers. The only permanent solution, in the light of predicted increases in air travel, is more airports.

According to Boyle

By JOY STILLEY (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — It is about 200 miles between New York and Washington, and some motorists can make the trip in as little as four hours. It takes us 10.

That's because my husband has a yen for taking ferryboats. If there isn't a ferry where we are going, we go where there is a ferry.

Thus on a recent trip to the nation's capital we disdained the direct mode of travel via turnpike and expressway in our eternal pursuit of a ferryboat route.

Instead we traversed the entire coastline of New Jersey, all the way down to Cape May where, by diligent map study, my would-be sailor had located a ferry that took us from New Jersey to Delaware. From there it was only a roundabout trip of some hours before we reached our destination.

En route to Florida we always drove down to the tip of the Delmarva Peninsula, from which point we were waterborne in slow splendor across Chesapeake Bay. When they built the 17-mile-long Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel a few years ago and eliminated that ferry, what others regarded as an engineering marvel my husband regarded as a personal affront.

The next time we went down that way we traveled a couple of hundred extra miles in order to take a ferry he had discovered in Wilmington, N.C.

There is always some heated debate between us as to whether the ferries he has ferreted out are seaworthy. I always take the negative.

On one occasion we rode a vessel so tiny that it resembled a raft. It was so small it wouldn't even hold the car, but that didn't deter my determined spouse. We left the family vehicle behind and went to an island and back just for the ride. When we do manage to get the car onto a boat, I am always convinced that we are going to drive straight into the water when we leave. Actually there is not much danger of this as my chauffeur is usually not even at the wheel when we make landfall. He always insists on getting out, no matter how short the trip, to view the passing scenery and is usually not back by the time the chains are down and the attendants are motioning impatiently for the car to move.

Each time my husband reads that a new bridge is being built and an old ferry is being dropped, he reacts as though a favorite uncle had died.

Outwardly I commiserate with him, but inwardly I smile. I'm all for progress.

Election's Effect

It has been traditional in Wall Street to blame political uncertainty for weak stock markets in the months preceding a national election. But many corporation officials, who are close to economic causes and effects, do not agree that the forthcoming election is quite the important factor market letter writers think it is.

Only a small percentage of companies recently interviewed felt that the political campaign would prove bothersome.

Try and Stop Me

SALVATORE, just added to the staff of waiters at the Venezia Bar and Grille, disappeared for a full hour after reporting for his first day's work. His excuse to the boss: "I've been filling the salt shakers like you told me to." "It took you one hour to fill a few miserable salt shakers?" echoed the incredulous boss. "Yes, sir," replied the waiter. "It's not so easy for an inexperienced man to pour salt through all those little holes."

In a moment of exhorting candor, Yogi Berra suddenly disclosed the super-strategy he employed as first-base coach of the New York Mets last year. "When a Met player hit for extra bases—and that wasn't too often," explained Yogi, looking up from a volume explaining the Einstein theory. "I patted him on the back as he rounded first, pointed to second and shouted, 'Go, go, go' as loud as I could!"

A harassed tax-payer was told he could not claim his good-for-nothing brother-in-law as a dependent. "But," he protested, "this parasite lives with us and is eating us out of house and home." "Evict him," suggested the flint-hearted Revenue man. "If I do that," moaned the tax-payer, "my wife will walk out, too. Then I'll have no deductions at all."

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt

Three out of every five Britons who sport the wearing of the "old school tie," according to the head of the British Tie Manufacturers Association, are really phonies. Not drop outs, you understand, just never-wases.

Fakers also like to sport club and regimental ties, the complaint goes on, the wearing of which they are also ineligible. In other words, they like to show anything but their true colors.

A California boys baseball contest was stopped when the field sprinkler system turned on. Game called on account of artificial rain.

Because purchase taxes are only charged on skirts longer than 24 inches, the British Treasury thinks its being deprived of revenue. Anything shorter than 24 inches is classified nontaxable children's clothing. No kidding!

Robots of the future, it's predicted, will be able to remember, see, write, talk and walk. They still won't be really human-like unless they can also complain.

We have the world's greatest rainmaker right here in our office. He's the fellow who selects the date for the employees' picnic.

Beatle Giveaway Smashing Success

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles were cleaned out today. More than 500 fans of the mop-topped foursome stormed their psychedelic boutique for free clothes and other Beatle gear like beads and highly colored posters.

The Beatles were tired of being "just shopkeepers." So, in their own headquarters of hippie outfits—a place they called "Apple"—they gave away $48,000 worth of stock.

Grandmothers joined hippies in the rush over Beatle generosity. Within three hours everything had been taken that wasn't nailed down.

My fiancée is 23 years old and is in perfect health. Only recently she has revealed to me her fear that she and our children will become diabetics because both her father and mother have it. I really feel that her anxiety is interfering with our plans to be married in the near future. Can you set us straight about this problem?

Mr. B.R., Wyoming
Dear Mr. R.: There is no doubt in the minds of doctors who specialize in diabetes that there is some familiar tendency about this condition. It is said that in about 50 per cent of the cases of diabetes mellitus there is some hereditary, or family background.

Diabetes usually occurs in the fourth or fifth decade. This is a long time for you and your fiancée to be concerned about a condition that may not ever become a reality.

Certainly it would do you both a great injustice if the fear of acquiring diabetes kept your wife from having a family.

Some people manipulate their lives because of fear, rather than enjoy their rightful heritage of happiness. The American Diabetes Association and health educators have been speaking and writing about the pre-diabetic person with a family history of diabetes, in order to uncover the condition early, treat it early and keep it under complete control. I am certain that if you were to discuss this problem with your own physician you would soon be assured of your anxieties, be told to have repeated examinations and then make plans for a lifetime of family happiness.

Our only child is a pretty, blue-eyed blonde, four years of age and a tyrant. She seems to run the entire household and I believe she gets away with murder. I think this can be corrected by laying down the law to her but my wife insists on allowing her complete freedom. What can we do to help her and, just as important, help us?

Mr. and Mrs. H.U., Washington
Dear Mr. and Mrs. U.: The very first thing you can do is to agree on any position you decide to take. At the age of four, you are already three years, eleven months and three weeks late, in consolidating your attitude towards the child.

Infants and young children have a built-in radar and sonar system that tells them when there is conflict between the parents, anxiety about how to bring up children and how best to play one parent against another to attain their own ends.

Kids have a diabolical brilliance in recognizing when they have the upper hand in the family and when their parents are "scared to death of them."

The battle between permissiveness and strict training has been going on for many years. Adherents of each "school of thought" will fight to the finish insisting that their method, and only their method, is right. It is this very rigidity of thinking that deprives the child of his right to inner security. There is no one single answer for all children everywhere. Some children flourish in a permissive atmosphere, while others gain their greatest security by having rigid laws and limitations set down for them.

At this point in your lives you would do well to consult a child psychologist, or psychiatrist, who may make a suggestion or two that will completely reorient the family and bring the three of you freedom from confusion and concern.

Boston Officer Rips Cleveland City Brass

BOSTON (AP) — The chairman of the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association attacked today the "city administration" of Cleveland for its handling of the fatal shooting by black militants of three police officers there last week.

"Do I have to say Mayor Stokes?" said Patrolman Richard G. MacEachern, who went to Cleveland with other Boston policemen for the funerals of the three slain officers. In an interview, he said he was "appalled" because city leaders "did not have the courage" to move faster when the three officers were attacked.

"Two wounded cops who later died were lying in the street for more than an hour" while more men were being marshaled to go to their aid, MacEachern said.

Fort Where Extremes Meet

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Fort Sill, Oklahoma — One of the sights at this center of artillery and missile training is the house in which Geronimo, the "human tiger" of the Apaches, was imprisoned back in the Nineties after the last of the Indian wars. The Geronimo story is part of Fort Sill's legend, the capstone memory of all those early years of frontier warfare. General Phil Sheridan picked this spot for a fort back in 1869 in what was then the country of the Comanches and the Kowas, the dreaded horsemen of the southwest plains who lived off the buffalo before the years of the great slaughter.

The relics of the days in which Gen. George Custer and other Indian fighters moved through this region are now being polished up for Fort Sill's centennial celebration, which is due next January. They contrast oddly with the hardware that decorates the Fort Sill landscape today. The rumble of heavy fire power is almost never stilled in the huge acreage of this base, where on six-month intensive training schedules the prospective second lieutenants at the officers' candidate school are taught to cope with the most sophisticated weapons in the world. The second generation Sergeant and Pershing missile systems were introduced here in 1963, and Fort Sill is now preparing for Lance, the Army's newest missile. Students seated in a range reviewing stand watch and feel the heat stinging their faces as napalm demonstrations show the more fearsome aspects of U.S. military power. Helicopters fly overhead; the Honest John rocket is part of the scenery along with the Wichita Mountains in the distance and the herd of one thousand buffalo that live in the wild life preserve near the Fort.

What the fledgling officer candidates have to learn here is the art of commanding men in the age of the 175 mm. gun, the airborne rocket launcher, and the atomic warhead. Yet the most fearsome exhibit on the whole base is something that Geronimo and the Comanche and Kiowa Indians would have immediately understood. The visitor who is used to the scientific age takes the Choctaw helicopters and the huge self-propelled howitzers in his stride; what he is not prepared for is the realistic mock-up of a Vietcong village, with its full revelation of all the tricks of guerrilla ambush that have been developed to a high pitch of perfection by "human tigers" who would have felt right at home in Geronimo's frontier world of eighty years ago.

A tour of the Vietcong village is an adventure in irony. The same boy who is taught to master the mathematics of modern gunfire has to be taught the realities of coping with an improvised trip wire that might end his life by touching off an explosion in a remote patch of jungle. The most sophisticated and the most primitive techniques go together in this most modern of artillery schools. Twenty thousand men have passed through the Vietcong village here, learning about the perils of mined jungle paths and bridges, and under the slogan of "Stay alert, Stay alive," studying the enemy's tricks with sharpened bamboo spikes.

You are invited to watch what happens when you stumble on a hidden wire and release a heavy "swinging mace" (a block of concrete studded with spikes), which would surely disembowel you if you weren't warned to step back. In Vietnam, you are told, swinging maces are sometimes set up in multiples of seven, designed to knock off a whole column of men coming up a jungle path. Sometimes a swinging mace touches off a fuse that is timed to explode a charge designed to kill anybody coming to the aid of a mace victim.

There is a replica of a friendly Vietnamese village at Fort Sill. It is there to teach the artillerymen something about the uses of such protective devices as concertina barbed wire, which can be unrolled in a hurry like a child's slinky. This is the modern version of the old frontier dodge of putting the wagons in a circle. They used to say, laughingly that the wagon circle would be Barry Goldwater's response to war in Vietnam. But the old frontier tricks are still good; and Goldwater, as a student of Apache warfare, was no fool.

At Fort Sill the extremes meet. Geronimo would have been perplexed by the sight of a helicopter lifting a gigantic field piece. But he would have been right at home with the sort of ambush warfare symbolized by the Vietcong village.

Ohio Power Strike Over

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Power Co. workers at Tiffin, Findlay and Lima, who had been on strike for a month, were back on the job today.

A company spokesman said the 283 employees represented by Electrical Service Union Local 111 voted to return to work for a 30-day period after being informed by the National Labor Relations Board that they were striking illegally because the board had not been informed of their intention to strike.

The workers struck July 1 following expiration of their contract.

Nearly 1,200 other Ohio Power employees, members of the Utility Workers of America and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, are still on strike. Some of them have been out since June 28 and the others since July 8.

The company said supervisory personnel has maintained service during the strike, which has been marked by vandalism and breakdowns caused by the weather.

Cost of Living Bounces Higher For Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living, paced by higher mortgage interest and other home ownership charges, jumped one half of one per cent in June to a level 4.2 per cent above that of a year ago, the government announced today.

The June rise equaled that of February 1966 and was larger than any other since September 1962 when the index went up six-tenths of one per cent.

The rise in consumer prices was relatively steeper than that for wholesale prices which increased two-tenths of a per cent in June, raising them 2.3 per cent above a year ago.

The consumer price index for June was given as 120.9 per cent of the 1957-59 average, meaning that it cost $12.09 for a consumer to buy in June the typical family needs for which he would have paid $10 in the base period.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported an "unusually sharp" rise of seven tenths of one per cent in the cost of over-all services. The rise was attributed to an increase in maximum interest rates for VA home loans and substantial increases in rates for conventional mortgages, carrying over-all mortgage interest charges nearly 4 per cent above those in June last year.

Other home ownership costs advancing in June included insurance rates and charges for home decoration and repair.

Consumer prices for food and beverage at home rose less than usual for June but the cost of eating out in June increased for the 54th consecutive month.

Farm product prices dropped as a result of lower prices for fresh fruits and vegetables and lower grain quotations, but egg prices went up sharply.

The department said that despite rising prices, real earnings advanced during June. Real earnings represent the buying power of a worker's net spendable income after adjustment for consumer price changes.

Gross earnings rose to $108.20 a week, an increase of $1.51 over the month.

Spendable weekly earnings—gross pay less federal income and Social Security taxes—also posted records. A worker with three dependents had spendable weekly earnings of $95.55 in June, up $1.15 from May, and a single worker's rose $1.11 to $86.68 in June.

Air Traffic Jam

Unlike slowdowns occasionally imposed by unions to extract higher wages, airport tower operators at Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark airports, serving the New York City metropolitan area, appear to be following the book purely in the interest of safety.

Traffic at the three airports, particularly Kennedy, has reached the saturation point for ever-lengthening "peak" periods.

Nearly three million travelers pass in and out of the three airports these summer months. Operations in June averaged 5,910 flights daily — 900 more than this time last year.

To cope with this traffic crush, tower operators have been adhering strictly to Federal Aviation Administration rules which require that aircraft within 40 miles of a radar-equipped airport be separated by a distance of three miles.

That is why stackups of flights to Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark have started as far away as Pittsburgh.

One immediate need is for more tower operators, since many are working six days a week and exceeding 40 hours a week — a heavy strain at work as demanding and exhausting as theirs. While the operators appear satisfied with their starting pay of $12,000 a year, more manpower obviously is needed.

House and Senate have cooperated to the extent of authorizing the training of at least 1,500 additional tower controllers. More tower operators can improve safety by relieving the strain on presently overworked personnel.

Spreading the peak loads by forced rescheduling would help, but this is resisted by airlines and customers. The only permanent solution, in the light of predicted increases in air travel, is more airports.

Election's Effect

It has been traditional in Wall Street to blame political uncertainty for weak stock markets in the months preceding a national election. But many corporation officials, who are close to economic causes and effects, do not agree that the forthcoming election is quite the important factor market letter writers think it is.

Only a small percentage of companies recently interviewed felt that the political campaign would prove bothersome.

The Business World

By JACK LEFLER (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry is plunging into the science of oceanography in hopes of reaping profits from the wealth of resources in and beneath the seas.

The hidden treasures include oil, minerals and food.

"Just as the seas are the last great area for physical exploration on the planet, they are also the last great area for economic expansion," says Dr. Charles F. Jones, president of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

The big brokerage firm Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith includes oceanography in its list of five emerging industries. The others are medical technology, nuclear energy, learning aids and pollution control.

The federal government spearheaded research into the realm of oceanography. The oceanographic activities of 22 federal agencies may involve an expenditure of $500 million next year.

"Three hundred of the nation's 500 largest corporations have ocean science programs of their own," reports Oilways, a publication of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

But Samuel A. Jordan, manager of Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s Undersea Division, cautions against thinking that a harvest of wealth from the oceans is just around the corner.

"In the immediate future the outlook is uncertain," he says. "But we want to be ready. For the long haul you can be optimistic. Ten or 15 years from now there probably will be production from deep oil wells and the more sophisticated food areas."

Current manufacturing activity in the oceanographic field is mainly confined to submersible vessels, research instruments and equipment to enable man to operate at great depths.

In its projection of oceanography's future as a commercial undertaking, Merrill Lynch says scientists believe the greatest riches of the ocean, which cover 71 per cent of the earth's surface, lie on the continental shelves surrounding the land masses.

So far, industry's biggest and most profitable oceanographic venture has been offshore production of oil and gas. Offshore wells provide 16 per cent of the petroleum produced in the Western world and are expected to account for 40 per cent 10 years from now.

Companies now are extracting sulphur, manganese, salt and bromine from the seas. In the future they may be able to remove from deep-water manganese nodules not only manganese but rich deposits of nickel, copper and cobalt.

Many companies are optimistic about the possibilities. Frank Compton, who heads the Ocean Division of North American Rockwell Corp., a manufacturer of aircraft, missiles and electronics products, predicts that within 10 years underwater business will account for 20 to 25 per cent of his company's business.

Three out of every five Britons who sport the wearing of the "old school tie," according to the head of the British Tie Manufacturers Association, are really phonies. Not drop outs, you understand, just never-wases.

Fakers also like to sport club and regimental ties, the complaint goes, the wearing of which they are also ineligible. In other words, they like to show anything but their true colors.

A California boys baseball contest was stopped when the field sprinkler system turned on. Game called on account of artificial rain.

Because purchase taxes are only charged on skirts longer than 24 inches, the British Treasury thinks its being deprived of revenue. Anything shorter than 24 inches is classified nontaxable children's clothing. No kidding!

Robots of the future, it's predicted, will be able to remember, see, write, talk and walk. They still won't be really human-like unless they can also complain.

Beatle Giveaway Smashing Success

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles were cleaned out today. More than 500 fans of the mop-topped foursome stormed their psychedelic boutique for free clothes and other Beatle gear like beads and highly colored posters.

The Beatles were tired of being "just shopkeepers." So, in their own headquarters of hippie outfits—a place they called "Apple"—they gave away $48,000 worth of stock.

Grandmothers joined hippies in the rush over Beatle generosity. Within three hours everything had been taken that wasn't nailed down.

"I've been filling the salt shakers like you told me to." "It took you one hour to fill a few miserable salt shakers?" echoed the incredulous boss. "Yes, sir," replied the waiter. "It's not so easy for an inexperienced man to pour salt through all those little holes."

In a moment of exhilarating candor, Yogi Berra suddenly disclosed the super-strategy he employed as first-base coach of the New York Mets last year. "When a Met player hit for extra bases—and that wasn't too often," explained Yogi, looking up from a volume explaining the Einstein theory. "I patted him on the back as he rounded first, pointed to second and shouted, 'Go, go, go' as loud as I could!"

A harassed tax-payer was told he could not claim his good-for-nothing brother-in-law as a dependent. "But," he protested, "this parasite lives with us and is eating us out of house and home." Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My fiancée is 23 years old and is in perfect health. Only recently she has revealed to me her fear that she and our children will become diabetics because both her father and mother have it. I really feel that her anxiety is interfering with our plans to be married in the near future. Can you set us straight about this problem?

Mr. B.R., Wyoming
Dear Mr. R.: There is no doubt in the minds of doctors who specialize in diabetes that there is some familiar tendency about this condition. It is said that in about 50 per cent of the cases of diabetes mellitus there is some hereditary, or family background.

Diabetes usually occurs in the fourth or fifth decade. This is a long time for you and your fiancée to be concerned about a condition that may not ever become a reality.

Certainly it would do you both a great injustice if the fear of acquiring diabetes kept you wife from having a family. Some people manipulate their lives because of fear, rather than enjoy their rightful heritage of happiness. The American Diabetes Association and health educators have been speaking and writing about the pre-diabetic person with a family history of diabetes, in order to uncover the condition early, treat it early and keep it under complete control. I am certain that if you were to discuss this problem with your own physician you would soon be assured of your anxieties, be told to have repeated examinations and then make plans for a lifetime of family happiness.

Our only child is a pretty, blue-eyed blonde, four years of age and a tyrant. She seems to run the entire household and I believe she gets away with murder. Boston Officer Rips Cleveland City Brass

BOSTON (AP) — The chairman of the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association attacked today the "city administration" of Cleveland for its handling of the fatal shooting by black militants of three police officers there last week.

According to Boyle

By JOY STILLE (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — It is about 200 miles between New York and Washington, and some motorists can make the trip in as little as four hours. It takes us 10.

That's because my husband has a yen for taking ferryboats. If there isn't a ferry where we are going, we go where there is a ferry.

Thus on a recent trip to the nation's capital we disdained the direct mode of travel via turnpike and expressway in our eternal pursuit of a ferryboat route.

Instead we traversed the entire coastline of New Jersey, all the way down to Cape May where, by diligent map study, my would-be sailor had located a ferry that took us from New Jersey to Delaware. From there it was only a roundabout trip of some hours before we reached our destination.

En route to Florida we always drove down to the tip of the Delmarva Peninsula, from which point we were waterborne in slow splendor across Chesapeake Bay. When they built the 17-mile-long Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel a few years ago and eliminated that ferry, what others regarded as an engineering marvel my husband regarded as a personal affront.

The next time we went down that way we traveled a couple of hundred extra miles in order to take a ferry he had discovered in Wilmington, N.C.

There is always some heated debate between us as to whether the ferries he has ferreted out are seaworthy. I always take the negative.

On one occasion we rode a vessel so tiny that it resembled a raft. It was so small it wouldn't even hold the car, but that didn't deter my determined spouse. We left the family vehicle behind and went to an island and back just for the ride.

When we do manage to get the car onto a boat, I am always convinced that we are going to drive straight into the water when we leave. Actually there is not much danger of this as my chauffeur is usually not even at the wheel when we make landfall. He always insists on getting out, no matter how short the trip, to view the passing scenery and is usually not back by the time the chains are down and the attendants are motioning impatiently for the car to move.

Each time my husband reads that a new bridge is being built and an old ferry is being dropped, he reacts as though a favorite uncle had died.

Outwardly I commiserate with him, but inwardly I smile. I'm all for progress.

Two Local Youngsters Attending Summer Camp

CAMPERS — Contributions by clubs and organizations, and individuals have made it possible for Dean Cobb and Sharon Ely, pictured above, to attend a camp for handicapped children.

Little Sharon Ely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ely and Dean Cobb son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cobb, traveled to McCutchenville, Sunday where they will be spending twelve days at Camp Pittinger.

A totally new experience awaits some of the more than 200 handicapped children from 55 counties who will be attending this 26th camping session, which is part of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and Adults summer camping program. Sharon and Dean will find that the activities at the camp are geared at a slower pace, to meet the needs of each camper and his capabilities. They will be in expert care of professional, devoted personnel. Veteran Camp Director Gary Corn, along with the cooperation and supervision of the Special Education Department of Kent State University have been making many improvements in the camping program.

Water activity, river trips, an opportunity to learn new crafts and hobbies, games and a wonderful opportunity to acquire new friends are among the many activities provided. The campers will also be able to choose the activities in which they are most interested; such as cook-outs, campfires and nature walks. They should return home full of new enthusiasm and interest, a zest for other new experiences, and ready to tackle challenges as they come.

These two camperships were made possible through contributions by clubs and organizations and individual contributions to the local Easter Seal Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Ely live at 1117 McGraw Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Cobb near Stoutsville.

Area Prayer Meet Slated by Philpot

The next area wide prayer meeting of the Ford Philpot Crusade will be held 2 p.m. Sunday at the EUB United Methodist Church in Ashville.

The Ford Philpot Crusade, introduced by the Pickaway County Ministerial Assn. and sponsored by participating churches, is scheduled Nov. 13 through 24.

'Toy Pineapple' Brings Commotion

CINCINNATI (AP)—Doug Ellis, 10, walked into his neighborhood grocery store Tuesday and showed his father and the grocer the "toy pineapple" he had found in his yard—a handgrenade.

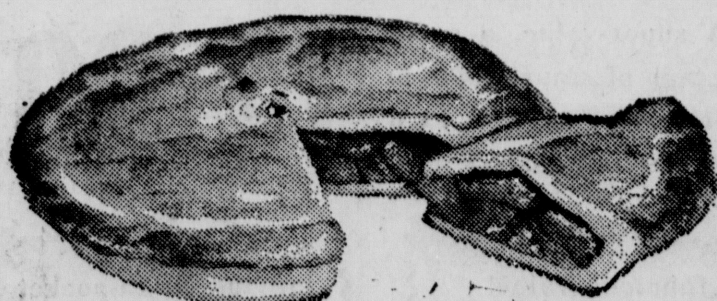

Grocer John F. Joehnk reached for the telephone and at the same time asked Doug if he had seen a pin attached to the end.

"We threw that away," answered Doug.

By that time Joehnk was talking with police who arrived within minutes to relieve the boy of the grenade. Officers said the fuse mechanism apparently had corroded. They tossed it into the Ohio River.

First Birthday Celebrated In Canada

TERRI LYNN CRIST

Terri Lynn Crist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crist, Route 4, spent her first birthday in Canada, July 14. The Crist family and others from Circleville and Columbus vacationing in Canada were staying in Bruce Mines at the Harry Frye Camp.

Mrs. Frye baked a birthday cake for Terri Lynn and a party was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Frye. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crist, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willison and David, Charles Willison, Jim, Gary and Rick of Circleville, and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Pittman, Bill, Linda and Tim of Columbus.

Before leaving for the two week vacation the celebrant received gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crist, Art and Fred, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crist of Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ferguson and Denise, and Miss Betty Alice McKenzie of Circleville.

The grayleg goose, depicted on ancient Egyptian frescoes, is probably the oldest domestic bird. Chinese swan geese were tamed at least 2,000 years ago.

Givenchy Unveils Collection Of Elegant, Mod Fashions

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Givenchy presented today a beautiful, elegant collection devoid of nostalgic flashbacks and with a definite eye on different types of women, "small, medium and large."

Givenchy is a purist. His new streamlined silhouettes, tunics, two-piece dresses and wrapover slashed evening dresses play up beautiful satin "charmeuse" and feature black velvet, and brocades.

Givenchy's collection closed a hectic week of winter fashions presented by the Paris haute couture.

Givenchy's collection opens with a white lamb "swimsuit," glove-fitted and brief and worn over a black jumpsuit. The whole thing is topped by a red coat. The "swimsuit" number runs through the collection. It steps forth in black velvet and later, for the boudoir, appears in fancy tinsel sequins or raised sparkling floral patterned brocade. It's worn over dancer's tights, and sometimes topped by a sweeping train coat or seethrough black chiffon coat.

Tongue in cheek, Givenchy presented full ballooned rompers covered in silver sequins, under a long sheer coat.

Black velvet is the fabric he likes best for every occasion starting with the cocktail hour and on. It is used in simple sheaths, in tailored suits, in dozens of tunic dresses and evening fitted shifts. Bright satin ribbon in fuchsia, shocking pink, light blue or black is used as a belt tied round the natural waistline.

Wool dresses and suits are often belted in wide-shaped leather belts or in metallic bright-colored waistbands.

Givenchy's tailoring is flawless. He still likes the wide coat and his lines simple, but builds in subtle architectural sections. A deep diamond pointed seam at a "smock yoke" line is found to give the shoulders a rounder look. Most of his coats are cut with kimono shoulders. This seam, in dressier cocktail and dinner dresses, develops into a cowl at the back. He also shows front cowls and on one black silk cocktail number gives it a deep back slash.

Spangled embroidery with bugle beads forming a fringed effect is shown in a good all-season long-sleeved wrapover gown, slashed as high as you can go. Mink too comes in for special treatment. It's dyed pink or blue, shown in tunics or dresses. The bride wears a sweeping off-face mink hat.

Many gowns are edged in rhinestone jewelry. One black crepe onssari lines has a rhinestone border snaking up the bare arm.

Happy 'Lounge Lizards' Refuse To Get Off Pads

By ELEANOR ROSS

I went shopping for new pads for lawn furniture and then toured the housewares departments of a couple of stores to see what's new and what else I could use.

Well, as for my original purchase, I found inflatable pads that add a nice cushiony effect to lawn furnishings. They would be good for camp pieces, too. Made of self-ventilating vinyl, these pads are easily inflatable, but pack down to a compact size for portability and storage when deflated. Just a going-over with a sudsy sponge or cloth does the cleaning job — if you can ever get the "lounge lizards" off the pads.

Possible Present

Another good summer possibility — something that would make a wonderful gift for patio dining — is an outdoor grill equipped with a transparent, heat-resistant dome. This makes an oven out of a charcoal grill, with the added advantage of complete visibility. It is easy to keep the dome crystal-clear by washing it inside and out after every use.

While I'm on the subject of food, here's a long overdue idea. Peanut butter, as we all know, can be a pretty sticky business on its way from the jar to bread. So some genius came up with a peanut butter knife coated with the non-stick surface so popular in pots and pans. Now, the peanut butter knife can be as easy to sud as the rest of the silverware in the dishpan.

Still in the eating area, I found one "hard-boiled" manufacturer has faced up to the battle of the boiled egg by devising an egg cup that just won't tip over, no matter what. Made of sturdy flexible plastic it can go into the dishwasher. It can even be boiled in sudsy water, if sterilization is necessary.

Sewing Novelty

And for the home seamstress, there is something new — a web of synthetic fibers with brown paper backing that fuses any type of fabric, even knitted. It acts as a permanent reinforcement for collars, facings, and other construction areas of garments.

It is stocked in yard goods departments — a good place to end any yarn.

MISS CAROL JEAN GOOD

Fall Wedding Is Planned

Mrs. Mary Shelkey, Lancaster, is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Carol Jean Good, to Roger D. Rawlins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Rawlins, also of Lancaster.

The bride-elect is a 1962 graduate of Lancaster High School and a former student of Kentucky Mountain Bible Institute in Vancleve, Ky.

Mr. Rawlins is a graduate of Paint Valley High School in Bainbridge. He attended the Circleville Bible College and is presently employed by the Anchor Hocking Glass Corp.

The open church wedding will take place in the Church of Christ in Christian Union, Camp Ground Road, Lancaster, 7 p.m. October 18.

First Birthday Celebrated In Canada

TERRI LYNN CRIST

Terri Lynn Crist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crist, Route 4, spent her first birthday in Canada, July 14. The Crist family and others from Circleville and Columbus vacationing in Canada were staying in Bruce Mines at the Harry Frye Camp.

Mrs. Frye baked a birthday cake for Terri Lynn and a party was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Frye. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crist, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willison and David, Charles Willison, Jim, Gary and Rick of Circleville, and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Pittman, Bill, Linda and Tim of Columbus.

Before leaving for the two week vacation the celebrant received gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crist, Art and Fred, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crist of Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ferguson and Denise, and Miss Betty Alice McKenzie of Circleville.

Givenchy Unveils Collection Of Elegant, Mod Fashions

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Givenchy presented today a beautiful, elegant collection devoid of nostalgic flashbacks and with a definite eye on different types of women, "small, medium and large."

Givenchy is a purist. His new streamlined silhouettes, tunics, two-piece dresses and wrapover slashed evening dresses play up beautiful satin "charmeuse" and feature black velvet, and brocades.

Givenchy's collection closed a hectic week of winter fashions presented by the Paris haute couture.

Givenchy's collection opens with a white lamb "swimsuit," glove-fitted and brief and worn over a black jumpsuit. The whole thing is topped by a red coat. The "swimsuit" number runs through the collection. It steps forth in black velvet and later, for the bouclair, appears in fancy tinsel sequins or raised sparkling floral patterned brocade. It's worn over dancer's tights, and sometimes topped by a sweeping satin coat or see-through black chiffon coat.

Tongue in cheek, Givenchy presented full ballooned rompers covered in silver sequins, under a long sheer coat.

Black velvet is the fabric he likes best for every occasion starting with the cocktail hour and on. It is used in simple sheaths, in tailored suits, in dozens of tunic dresses and evening fitted shifts. Bright satin ribbon in fuchsia, shocking pink, light blue or black is used as a belt tied round the natural waistline.

Wool dresses and suits are often belted in wide-shaped leather belts or in metallized bright-colored waistbands.

Givenchy's tailoring is flawless. He still likes the wide coat and his lines simple, but builds in subtle architectural sections. A deep diamond pointed seam at a "smock yoke" line is found to give the shoulders a rounder look. Most of his coats are cut with kimono shoulders. This seam, in dressier cocktail and dinner dresses, develops into a cowl at the back. He also shows front cowls and on one black silk cocktail number gives it a deep back slash.

Spangled embroidery with bugle beads forming a fringed effect is shown in a good all-season long-sleeved wrapover gown, slashed as high as you can go. Mink too comes in for special treatment. It's dyed pink or blue, shown in tunics or dresses. The bride wears a sweeping off-face mink hat.

Many gowns are edged in rhinestone jewelry. One black crepe onssari lines has a rhinestone border snaking up the bare arm.

Happy 'Lounge Lizards' Refuse To Get Off Pads

By ELEANOR ROSS

I went shopping for new pads for lawn furniture and then toured the housewares departments of a couple of stores to see what's new and what else I could use.

Well, as for my original purchase, I found inflatable pads that add a nice cushiony effect to lawn furnishings. They would be good for camp pieces, too. Made of self-ventilating vinyl, these pads are easily inflatable, but pack down to a compact size for portability and storage when deflated. Just a going-over with a sudsy sponge or cloth does the cleaning job — if you can ever get the "lounge lizards" off the pads.

Possible Present
Another good summer possibility — something that would make a wonderful gift for patio dining — is an outdoor grill equipped with a transparent, heat-resistant dome. This makes an oven out of a charcoal grill, with the added advantage of complete visibility. It is easy to keep the dome crystal-clear by washing it inside and out after every use.

While I'm on the subject of food, here's a long overdue idea. Peanut butter, as we all know, can be a pretty sticky business on its way from the jar to bread. So some genius came up with a peanut butter knife coated with the non-stick surface so popular in pots and pans. Now, the peanut butter knife can be as easy to suds as the rest of the silverware in the dishpan.

Still in the eating area, I found one "hard-boiled" manufacturer has faced up to the battle of the boiled egg by devising an egg cup that just won't tip over, no matter what. Made of sturdy flexible plastic it can go into the dishwasher. It can even be boiled in sudsy water, if sterilization is necessary.

Sewing Novelty
And for the home seamstress; there is something new — a web of synthetic fibers with brown paper backing that fuses any type of fabric, even knitted. It acts as a permanent reinforcement for collars, facings, and other construction areas of garments.

It is stocked in yard goods departments — a good place to end any yarn.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don "Red" Barry, a wrestler turned character actor, slumped in the hot midday sun behind a plaster of paris boulder on the Screen Gems backlot, rehearsing the scene in which he, a villain, gets his comeuppance. Shots were fired by a member of the technical crew.

Barry writhed and the director shouted, "Get ready with the blood."

On the sidelines in the shade, Don Murray, one of the two stars of the show, "The Outcasts," leaned back in his folding chair and talked about the new ABC series—his first regular television assignment.

"Well, yes, this one is based on personal relationships," he said, "since I play a former slave owner and Otis (Young) plays a former slave. But it's still a violent, action Western." A couple of months ago, Murray said, "they started to cut down on the number of people killed, and cut out some of the details of blood and gore."

"But we still have lots of fights and I play the kind of guy who gets drunk and is interested in women. I've lost a lot of horses in the 11 episodes we've finished—they've been shot, broken a leg, died from thirst and, in one episode, got bitten by a rattlesnake."

All this, presumably, makes "The Outcasts" one of those so-called "adult Westerns," but with a contemporary television switch that has a white man and a black man in prickly partnership as bounty hunters.

Murray, a stage and film star with credits such as "A Hatful of Rain" and "The Hoodlum Priest"—which he wrote, produced and in which he starred—said he had never wanted to be involved with a television series before because he thought it would be detrimental to his film career.

"I've changed my mind," he said. "Now I think it will be helpful. If you do good work and if the audience likes you and identifies with you, it will make the audience want to see more of you."

Acting in a Western is a kick, he said, "like being a kid again and getting paid for it." He added that in a Western with more action than talk, there isn't much of the dreary business of learning lines.

"I'd hate being in one of those court room series and have to study pages and pages of speeches."

The teaming of black and white man in the Old West permits the series to inject new twists into time-honored plots.

In one episode, Young, whose character Jamal David has been made acting sheriff of a small town, walks into a restaurant full of empty tables and one lone diner. He asks for food and the proprietor explains that he just hasn't the room to serve him.

"I react," said Young, a TV newcomer. "I play a guy with a short fuse. As a matter of fact, I react to this series. I've waited 14 years in show business for this chance, and I don't want anything to hurt it."

NBC plans a special two-hour episode of "Ironside" on Sept. 28, pre-empting "Daniel Boone." It crowds into one program a story about surgery to see whether the sleuth can regain the use of his legs.

The show, a week after NBC premieres its new season, arrives during the debut week of both ABC and CBS, and will conflict with the season premieres of CBS' "Hawaii Five-O" and ABC's "Bewitched" and "That Girl."

Reagan, Lindsay Far Apart On GOP Platform Planks

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two Republican stars—Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay—descended on GOP platform writers today with contrasting calls for 1968 party planks.

For the California governor, whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite son candidate, the accent lay on firm defense against communism abroad and sound finances and law and order at home.

"About one issue there should be no confusion," Reagan said. "Prevent the expansion of communist power. It is time to tell friend and foe alike: we are in Vietnam because it is in our national interest to be there."

And "here at home," he said, "we must recover the will necessary to make our streets safe, our cities free from violence and our campuses centers for learning rather than for outrage and insurrection."

For the New York mayor, who says he's for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and not himself as president, the stress was on reforms to cure city ills and poverty at home and on flexible diplomacy abroad.

"We can begin by writing a vigorous platform that affirms the humane and financial commitment described by the Riot Commission; a commitment that this (Johnson) administration has scorned," he said.

"It is time to make good the promise of American democracy to all citizens."

On Vietnam, Lindsay said "the Republican party should assume forthright leadership of the cause of ending this unwanted war on the other side of the world."

And U.S. diplomacy, he said, should recognize that in a changing world, relations with Russians and Chinese are not "fixed forever in an unalterable pattern."

Ohio GIs Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army 1st Lt. John R. Wilson of Barberton, Ohio, and Marine Pfc. Eric Parker of Shaker Heights, Ohio, have been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Wednesday. Air Force Tech. Sgt. Robert L. Gardner of Findlay, Ohio, died as a result of nonhostile action.

Housing Bill May Be Hurt By Congressional Cutbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stroke of a pen may turn President Johnson's far-reaching housing bill into law, but only future Congresses can make it a lasting reality for millions of the nation's low income families.

The government apparently will have enough money to finance the early stages of the three-year, $5.4-billion program. But even the current Congress has repeatedly slashed President Johnson's budget requests and its own authorizations.

If Congress should still be faced with war and inflation six months from now, appropriations to carry the measure through its second and third years may well be cut back to disabie Johnson's 10-year goal of 6 million new and rehabilitated homes.

The key new feature of the bill would help poor families buy homes and its $300 million outlay over the next three years would be the most generous government subsidy ever enacted for such a purpose.

The program's cost, however, is expected to increase greatly from the initial $75 million authorization.

The measure also includes new money authorizations for many existing programs seeking to deal with problems of city slums and the impoverished.

Among these are rent subsidies, low-rent public housing, urban renewal, and model cities and a package of aid to help set up whole new towns.

The legislation also wraps in far-reaching new provisions setting up a government insurance corporation to help make policies available to homeowners and businessmen in riot-potential areas and to establish a national flood insurance program.

The Housing and Urban Development Department estimates new subsidy plans should help 500,000 families buy homes in the three years covered by the bill and enable 300,000 to rent suitable apartments.

Hamilton Youth Held for Arson

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A food store in a predominantly Negro neighborhood was burned in a firebombing early yesterday, police reported. A 17-year old Negro boy was arrested by police soon after the fire started.

Police said the owner of the Midnight Market was at the store and saw the teen-ager throw the firebomb.

Firemen estimated the damage would run to several thousand dollars to the contents of the store and several thousand to the building itself.

Lausche, Young Split on Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's two Democratic senators, Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young, cast opposing votes Wednesday as the Senate passed 46-28 the $1.94 billion foreign aid authorization bill.

Lausche favored the measure, Young did not.

Draft Laws Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: In an effort to create a greater public understanding of the laws and regulations governing the induction of personnel into the Armed Forces, the Selective Service System has prepared a series of pertinent questions and corresponding responses concerning provisions of the draft law. Here is another in the series.

Q. My local board has mailed to me a Classification Questionnaire. Due to circumstances beyond my control, I can't possibly return it in the ten days allotted for its completion and return. May I receive a longer time

A. Yes, if the reason for delay in its return is valid, the local board may grant an extension of time.

Q. I have had my induction postponed. Before I am again ordered to report for induction, doesn't the local board have to issue a new "Order To Report For Induction"

A. No. The postponement didn't cancel the original order; it only rendered invalid the first reporting date.

Q. I wish to enlist in the National Guard and have been found qualified for military service. Would the report of my preinduction examination be available to the Guard or must I take another examination

A. A second examination will probably not be necessary. If you have already been found qualified for military service at the Armed Forces Examining Station, write to your local board and request them to furnish to the National Guard copies of all reports and questionnaires needed for your enlistment. The local board will then comply with your request if they have the records in your file. This procedure will obviate, in many cases, the expense of a second examination in order to determine whether the registrant is qualified for enlistment.

Make First Landing

PIKETON, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes made the first official landing at the new Pike County airport Wednesday. The governor later dedicated the new Junior Fair Building at the Pike County Fairgrounds.

Urge Dirksen To Cancel Party At Private Club

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith has urged Sen. Everett M. Dirksen to stop a planned party for Republican convention notables at a private club the Jewish organization says bars Negroes and Jews from membership.

The plea to the Senate Republican leader followed cancellation of a society page dinner-dance at the same club to which Richard M. Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and other top Republicans had been invited. The hostess, Mrs. W. Vincent Astor called it off following similar protests from the Anti-Defamation League.

Red Tape Strangles

BANGALORE, India (AP)—Official red tape "strangles" India's advancement, Mysore state's former chief minister, Siddhavanahalli Nijalingappa, said.

Now president of the ruling Congress Party, he quoted the example of a local industrialist who applied for permission to build a bone meal factory.

It took the government one year to grant what "could have been done in a week," he said.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don "Red" Barry, a wrestler turned character actor, slumped in the hot midday sun behind a plaster of paris boulder on the Screen Gems backlot, rehearsing the scene in which he, a villain, gets his comeuppance. Shots were fired by a member of the technical crew.

Barry writhed and the director shouted, "Get ready with the blood."

On the sidelines in the shade, Don Murray, one of the two stars of the show, "The Outcasts," leaned back in his folding chair and talked about the new ABC series—his first regular television assignment.

"Well, yes, this one is based on personal relationships," he said, "since I play a former slave owner and Otis (Young) plays a former slave. But it's still a violent, action Western." A couple of months ago, Murray said, "they started to cut down on the number of people killed, and cut out some of the details of blood and gore."

"But we still have lots of fights and I play the kind of guy who gets drunk and is interested in women. I've lost a lot of horses in the 11 episodes we've finished—they've been shot, broken a leg, died from thirst and, in one episode, got bitten by a rattlesnake."

All this, presumably, makes "The Outcasts" one of those so-called "adult Westerns," but with a contemporary television switch that has a white man and a black man in prickly partnership as bounty hunters.

Murray, a stage and film star with credits such as "A Hatful of Rain" and "The Hoodlum Priest"—which he wrote, produced and in which he starred—said he had never wanted to be involved with a television series before because he thought it would be detrimental to his film career.

"I've changed my mind," he said. "Now I think it will be helpful. If you do good work and if the audience likes you and identifies with you, it will make the audience want to see more of you."

Acting in a Western is a kick, he said—"like being a kid again and getting paid for it." He added that in a Western with more action than talk, there isn't much of the dreary business of learning lines.

"I'd hate being in one of those court room series and have to study pages and pages of speeches."

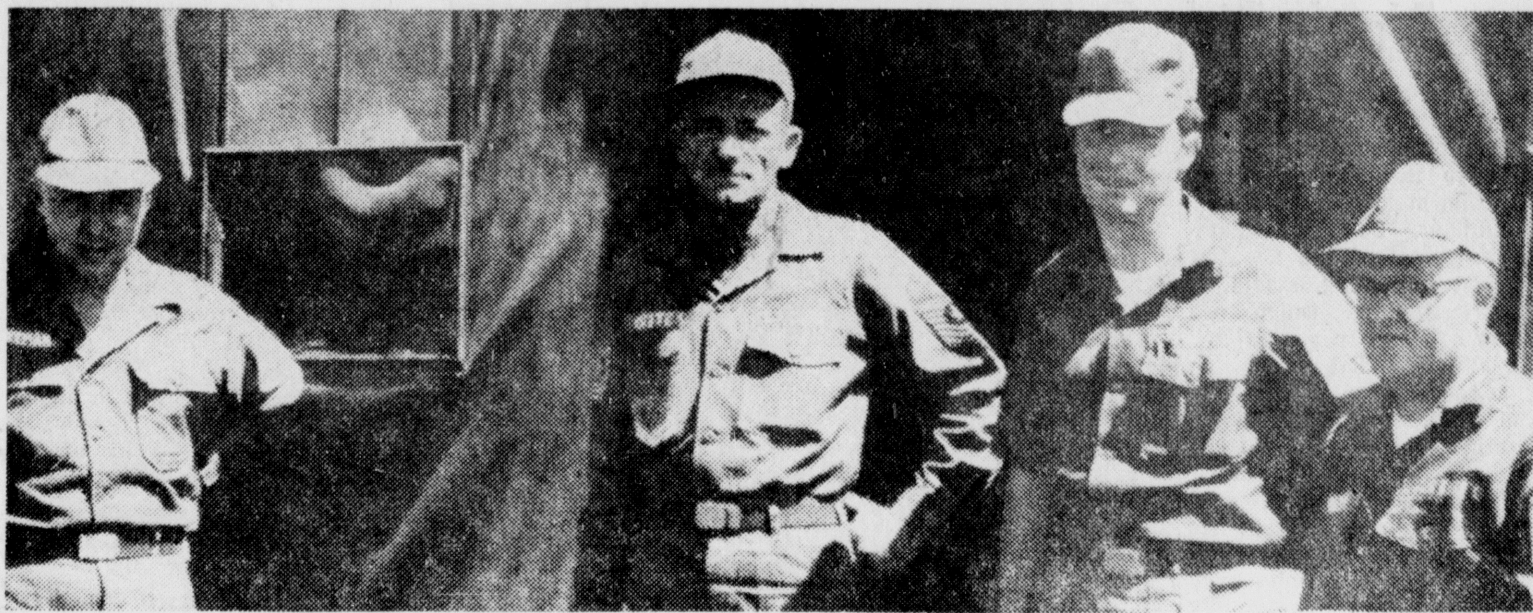

The teaming of black and white man in the Old West permits the series to inject new twists into time-honored plots.

In one episode, Young, whose character Jamal David has been made acting sheriff of a small town, walks into a restaurant full of empty tables and one lone diner. He asks for food and the proprietor explains that he just hasn't the room to serve him.

"I react," said Young, a TV newcomer. "I play a guy with a short fuse. As a matter of fact, I react to this series. I've waited 14 years in show business for this chance, and I don't want anything to hurt it."

NBC plans a special two-hour episode of "Ironside" on Sept. 26, pre-empting "Daniel Boone." It crowds into one program a story about surgery to see whether the sleuth can regain the use of his legs.

The show, a week after NBC premieres its new season, arrives during the debut week of both ABC and CBS, and will conflict with the season premieres of CBS' "Hawaii Five-O" and ABC's "Bewitched" and "That Girl."

Reagan, Lindsay Far Apart On GOP Platform Planks

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two Republican stars—Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay—descended on GOP platform writers today with contrasting calls for 1968 party planks.

For the California governor, whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite son candidate, the accent lay on firm defense against communism abroad and sound finances and law and order at home.

"About one issue there should be no confusion," Reagan said. "Prevent the expansion of communist power. It is time to tell friend and foe alike: we are in Vietnam because it is in our national interest to be there."

And "here at home," he said, "we must recover the will necessary to make our streets safe, our cities free from violence and our campuses centers for learning rather than for outrage and insurrection."

For the New York mayor, who says he's for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and not himself as president, the stress was on reforms to cure city ills and poverty at home and on flexible diplomacy abroad.

"We can begin by writing a vigorous platform that affirms the humane and financial commitment described by the Riot Commission; a commitment that this (Johnson) administration has scorned," he said.

"It is time to make good the promise of American democracy to all citizens."

On Vietnam, Lindsay said "the Republican party should assume forthright leadership of the cause of ending this unwanted war on the other side of the world."

And U.S. diplomacy, he said, should recognize that in a changing world, relations with Russians and Chinese are not "fixed forever in an unalterable pattern."

Ohio GIs Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army 1st Lt. John R. Wilson of Barberton, Ohio, and Marine Pfc. Eric Parker of Shaker Heights, Ohio, have been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Wednesday. Air Force Tech. Sgt. Robert L. Gardner of Findlay, Ohio, died as a result of nonhostile action.

Draft Laws Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: In an effort to create a greater public understanding of the laws and regulations governing the induction of personnel into the Armed Forces, the Selective Service System has prepared a series of pertinent questions and corresponding responses concerning provisions of the draft law. Here is another in the series.

Q. My local board has mailed to me a Classification Questionnaire. Due to circumstances beyond my control, I can't possibly return it in the ten days allotted for its completion and return. May I receive a longer time?

A. Yes, if the reason for delay in its return is valid, the local board may grant an extension of time.

Q. I have had my induction postponed. Before I am again ordered to report for induction, doesn't the local board have to issue a new "Order To Report For Induction"?

A. No. The postponement didn't cancel the original order; it only rendered invalid the first reporting date.

Q. I wish to enlist in the National Guard and have been found qualified for military service. Would the report of my preinduction examination be available to the Guard or must I take another examination?

A. A second examination will probably not be necessary. If you have already been found qualified for military service at the Armed Forces Examining Station, write to your local board and request them to furnish to the National Guard copies of all reports and questionnaires needed for your enlistment. The local board will then comply with your request if they have the records in your file. This procedure will obviate, in many cases, the expense of a second examination in order to determine whether the registrant is qualified for enlistment.

Anti-Fortas Group Doubled, Can Block Bid, Griffin Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The opposition leader to President Johnson's Supreme Court nomination says his forces have doubled in recent weeks and have more than enough votes to keep the Senate from voting on the appointments.

"I am confident these nominations will never be confirmed," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., Tuesday about the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice. Griffin said 40 senators now oppose the two.

He did not name the senators who he claims have increased the opposition strength from the original 19.

Griffin and his allies have threatened a filibuster against the appointments and it would take a two-thirds vote to shut off their debate. Griffin needs to muster at least 34 members to

Hike State Taxes

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. John Bell Williams has signed a bill to increase the state sales tax from 3½ to 5 per cent. Another bill boosts the top bracket of the state income tax from 3 to 4 per cent and eliminates the 2 per cent bottom rate. The two tax increases are expected to bring in $77 million to $83 million every two years to finance teacher pay raises.

vote against choking off the filibuster. Griffin commented in a speech to the National Press Club while members of the Senate Judiciary Committee gathered in secret in the Senate's basement recording studio to view three films which one called "hardcore pornography" and another labeled "crude vulgarity."

The question of pornography has taken center stage in the drawn-out hassling over Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren. One Republican has charged on the Senate floor that Fortas' votes on obscenity have helped "destroy community morals" in the United States. Congress recesses Friday for the two national political conventions, returning in September. There appears to be no chance for action on the nominations until then, although committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., called a meeting today to consider the Fortas appointment.

The committee has put off any action on Thornberry's nomination until after the Senate confirms or denies Fortas.

A Briton sea captain, Jacques Cartier, landed on the island of Montreal in 1535. The pleasant green island, site of an Indian village called Hochelaga, was dominated by a dead volcano. Cartier climbed it and named it "Mt. Royal."

Holgate Doctor's Death 'Natural'

NAPOLÉON, Ohio (AP)—The Henry County coroner ruled Tuesday that the death of Dr. Thomas C. Hanley, 32, of Holgate was due to "natural causes."

Dr. Hadley, one of three defendants in a torture case, collapsed in his home Monday and was pronounced dead at Heller Memorial Hospital here.

The coroner, Dr. Wilson J. Stough, said death was due to natural causes but declined to be more specific.

Dr. Hadley and two other men were charged last Feb. 26 with torturing a Grand Rapids, Wood County, boy in the doctor's office in Holgate, and later in a

Ohio Fight on Pollution Is Discussed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Plans, problems and progress in Ohio's uphill battle with water pollution were outlined by state officials Tuesday at a meeting here of representatives of water pollution control agencies.

Gov. James A. Rhodes described a new program under study to modernize Ohio's waste treatment facilities by use of perforated pipes on river bottoms.

Dr. Emmett Arnold, state health director, discussed a number of pollution problems that need attention. Fred Morr, director of the Department of Natural Resources, summed up progress on the $300 million Northwest Ohio Water development plan.

Tuesday's meeting primarily was a gathering of officials of the Ohio Water Development Authority, Ohio Pollution Control Board and the Ohio Water Commission to discuss the situation in the Maumee Water Basin.

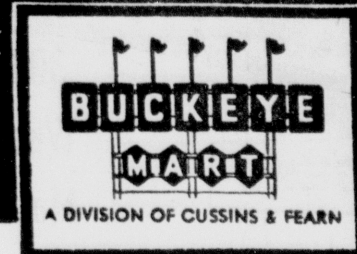

Arnold said Lake Erie poses one of the most serious pollution problems, but he also singled out the Portage, Black, Sandusky, Vermilion and Cuyahoga rivers.

He said four reservoirs, near Lima, Findlay, Wellington and Willard, have been placed under contract, and others near Clyde and Archbold-Wauseon are under study.

U.S. Responds with Cash, Food for Biafran Children

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are responding with emotion—and cash—to the plight of children reported starving on the other side of the world.

This time the victims of war are the people of Biafra, a tiny African country which seceded from Nigeria and in the ensuing fight was cut off from food and medical supplies.

Church groups and the International Red Cross long have been aware of the tragedy of the Biafrans. Millions of dollars and thousands of tons of food and other supplies have been collected around the world, much of it through U.S. churches.

The supplies, including baby food, powdered milk and eggs to meet the Biafrans' desperate need for proteins, and medical supplies, have been airlifted into Biafra's 10,000-square-mile cul de sac, surrounded by hostile territory, in a cloak-and-dagger operation—a miniature Berlin airlift.

Many tons of supplies already are in African warehouses and much more is on the way. For example, Church World Service, relief arm of the Protestant National Council of Churches, has started trucking 500,000 pounds of high-protein beans from its Saginaw, Mich., depot to Baltimore for transport by ship to Biafra.

The Biafrans get only a few plane-loads of food and medicine a day because the relief planes must fly at night to avoid Nigerian government antiaircraft fire, landing in the dark on makeshift landing strips.

Photographs showing tiny Biafrans with protruding ribs and distended bellies of malnutrition brought sudden and dramatic results.

Bruce Liston Gets Top Honor in Rate of Gain

AN EASY KEEPER — The champion rate of gain steer was shown by Bruce Liston this year at the fair. Liston's calf, a charolais, gained an average of 2.622 pounds per day over a 203 day period.

Bruce Liston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Liston, Route 3, exhibited the champion in the 1968 Rate of Gain contest at the Pickaway County Fair.

Liston's charolais steer weighed 470 pounds when beginning weight was taken Jan. 6. On closing date July 27, the steer weighed 1,005 pounds for a total gain of 535 pounds, or a daily average over 203 days of 2.622 pounds.

Scott Huffer was second with his charolais-herford crossbred steer which averaged 2.475 pounds per day. Third was Mark Bower's charolais with a gain of 2.254 pounds per day.

Average beginning weight of entries in the contest was 535 pounds. Closing weight averaged 949 pounds for a gain of 414 pounds. Average daily gain of all entrants was 2.096.

OTHER steers are listed with owner's name, breed, total weight gain and average daily gain in pounds.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Model Living a 'Bare Life'

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of mine has a daughter who is 24 years old. Linda is a college graduate so she can't be dumb. Well, this Linda girl happens to be very pretty with a knock out shape, so she went to the city and took a job posing for an artist who specializes in painting girls with nothing on.

Aren't there laws against indecent exposure, and can't this shameless girl be arrested if caught?

ARKANSAS

DEAR ARKANSAS: There is a law against indecent exposure, but I don't know how (or if) it would apply to your neighbor's daughter. The young woman is well past the age of consent, and if the artist is legitimate, and Linda is indeed his model, no one can stop her from making a bare living.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday my girl friend and I were standing in front of my house talking to a bunch of boys, and one of the boys said something real dirty. I felt my face getting real hot, but I didn't say anything. Nobody else said anything either, but a couple of the boys laughed. Greg, who is sort of my boy friend, but we don't go steady or anything like that because we are only 14, just stood there and didn't say anything.

Later on when Greg walked me to the door I told him I was disappointed in him because when that boy said something dirty in front of me he didn't tell him he shouldn't talk that way in front of girls. Greg said if I didn't like what the guy said I should have said something. What do you think?

SUNNYVALE

DEAR SUNNYVALE: You were right. Greg was wrong. Color him yellow.

DEAR ABBY: Bob and I were married earlier this year and everything is just wonderful except one thing. I don't have a penny to my name.

Bob goes to the store with me and pays for the groceries and if I want a dime for a soft drink or six cents for a stamp I have to ask him for it. (I'm telling him the six cents I need for this letter is for a letter to my mother.)

When we were going together he was very generous, so I had no way of knowing that he would be such a miser.

He reads your column every day, so will you please give him the word?

RESENTFUL

DEAR RESENTFUL: You're lucky you are still a bride, and your husband's stinginess has not yet become a bad habit. TELL him that you want an allowance. Work out a budget together and decide on a mutually agreeable amount. And do it now, or prepare to be a "beggar" all your married life.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "S" IN HARTFORD: Don't lend her any more money until you find out what she is doing with it. Anyone who is as "desperate" for cash as your friend appears to be could be supporting a very bad (and possibly dangerous habit.)

Jobseekers Answer Lure of West

By NEIL BIBLER
Associated Press Writer

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Eastern city dwellers, disturbed by urban riots, pollution and related metropolitan problems, apparently find the spacious West as alluring economically as did their ancestors.

"Alaska still has a strong appeal as a frontier," says R. Scott Withers, field supervisor for Alaska's Employment Security Division. It's a holdover from the gold rush days.

Withers reports letters from out-of-state jobseekers have increased 20 per cent during the past two years. The increase is also typical of several of the sparsely populated Rocky Mountain states. The area, with an essentially rural economy, generally is attracting an influx of permanent residents along with tourists this summer.

Not all the letters stem from disturbances, although a Nevada official figures 75 per cent of those to his state cite riots as the reason for writing.

Other factors include a change in climate, a desire for a simpler life and avoidance of smog and congestion. Some believe a given area is undergoing a boom or, as New Mexico's job service director, Paul Cruz, says, "want more opportunity which they believe is in the West."

Not all the Rocky Mountain states are having an increase in such letters. New Mexico finds things about normal. South Dakota receives few letters from urban centers. Utah and Arizona say there is no increase.

But taken altogether, Alaska and the Rocky Mountain section receive about 300,000 job inquiries a year from out-of-state residents.

The response these jobseekers get varies from a form letter to personal replies, from a glad hand to some discouragement, from descriptions of the climate and opportunities to lists of job scales sometimes notably lower than their equivalents in the East.

Montana, Alaska, Nevada and Idaho report a significant rise in jobseekers. They face a problem, however: They find most of the hopefuls do not have the qualifications needed in these states.

Montana, for example, is receiving 500 letters a week from such workers as factory employees and from professional or specially skilled personnel. It needs cowboys, seasonal laborers and teachers, to name a few.

Alaska, with about 14,000 letters a year its employment service calls "fan mail," cites an oversupply of unskilled and semiskilled labor. "There has been a more or less constant demand for people in the professional and technical categories," says Withers.

"Everybody's heard of the high wages you can make in Alaska," Withers added. "People think they can come up here for a summer, grab one of those jobs, build up a nest egg and pull out. It has always been state policy to discourage this type of approach."

As a smart homemaker, you know that compliments come when your home emanates an air of comfort, coziness and relaxed living. You know, too, that WALLPAPER is one of the easiest and quickest ways to achieve that impression of livability. Best of all, the many selections of design and color can point up your individuality as a homemaker and really bring forth a glow of approval. OTTAWA (AP) — Negotiations to end Canada's 13-day-old nationwide postal strike are continuing with no break in sight. Two national business organizations called Tuesday for government intervention if necessary to get the strikers back to work.

The Retail Council of Canada and the Automotive Industries Association appealed to Prime Minister Pierre E. Trudeau to stop the strike because it was hurting the economy.

The 24,000 members of the striking Council of Postal Unions are seeking a general pay increase of 75 cents an hour. The government has offered 15 cents. The previous top wages have been $2.63 an hour for letter carriers and $2.75 for clerks.

Pet Parade Held Between Showers

DOG TIRED — R. E., a bloodhound owned by Kyle Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Jones, Route 4, appears dog tired after participating in the Lion's Club pet parade.

Cloudy skies parted just long enough Wednesday for The Lions Club's annual pet parade and bicycle give away at the Pickaway County Fair.

Pet owners assembled in front of the Coliseum and awaited the start of the parade that carried them around the building back to the starting point. Then judging was conducted by Lion officials.

Here is the list of winners.

Typical Boy and Pet — 1. Robin Stealy, 2. John Shipley, 3. Jack Phebus, 4. John McCoy.

Typical Girl and Pet — 1. Paula Kocher, 2. Carrie Teegardin, 3. Wendy McCullough, 4. Melissa Archer.

Decorated Pony Cart — 1. Bret Starkey, 2. Darryl Ward, 3. Ricky Ferguson, 4. Mary Beth Rhoads.

FUN FOR ALL — Wednesday was kiddy day at the Pickaway County Fair. Rides were fun for all, as attested by Greg White, Circleville.

New GM Plant Opens in Ohio

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Development Director F. P. Neuenschwander represented Gov. James A. Rhodes at dedication ceremonies here Wednesday for a new General Motors Corp. division headquarters.

More than 200 civic, business and industry leaders were present as Edward N. Cole, GM president, dedicated the newly completed administrative building and engineering laboratories of the new Dearborn-Hyatt Bearing Division.

Cole said an increase in the price of steel does not necessarily mean an increase in the price of 1969 cars.

"At the present time, we do not know all of the facts," Cole said. "Our pricing studies for the 1969 cars have not been completed and will not be finished until late September, just before the cars are introduced to the public."

Decorated Wagons, Etc. — 1. Cindy Cook and Cindy Baurer, 2. Roy Ann Bowers, 3. Seth and Stephanie Jones, 4. Cathy Riddle.

Most Unusual Pet or Freak — 1. Hattie Payne, 2. Steve Diltz, 3. Bret Atkins, 4. Danny Stevens.

Greatest Number of Pets Shown by One Person — 1. Leslie Zimmerman, 2. Cathy Riddle.

Best Decorated Boys Bike — Tommy Ward. Best Dressed Dog — Lisa Weller. Best Dressed Cat — Terry Penwell. Best Rabbit — 1. Donna Wickline, 2. Cindy Hamman.

Ponies (Large) — 1. Robin Melvin, 2. Carol Sherman, 3. Teresa Kerns, 4. Linda Sanderson.

U.S. Bishops Back Pope's Encyclical

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Catholic bishops—saying that "struggling to live out the will of God will often entail sacrifices"—have called on American Catholics to be guided by Pope Paul VI's encyclical on birth control.

"We unite with him," they said in a statement Wednesday, "in calling upon our priests and people to receive with sincerity what he has taught, to study it carefully and form their consciences in its light."

The American bishops said Pope Paul, in teaching Monday against use of artificial birth control methods, had reaffirmed the principles to be followed in forming Christian consciences of married Catholics in carrying out their responsibilities.

The encyclical has drawn widespread opposition, including a statement by more than 100 American Catholic theologians urging couples to follow their own consciences.

The U.S. bishops' statement was issued in Washington by Archbishop John F. Dearden of Detroit, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, who said it had been read to and approved by nearly all the bishops in the country.

Prison Inmates Organize Group

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Forty-three inmates of the Idaho State Penitentiary have organized the Veterans' Legion of the United States, Post No. 1.

Warden Orval Stiles said Wednesday it was hoped the organization would become nationwide.

AT WASHINGTON — Pickaway County students traveled to Washington, D. C., this spring, where they had their picture taken on the Capitol Building steps with Congressman Chalmers P. Wylie of Ohio's 15th District which will include Pickaway County beginning Jan. 1. Miss Ruth Stout, standing beside Wylie at the lower right, was the tour guide. She has taken thousands of local students on tours of the nation's capital.

Officers Tell of Running Into Cleveland Sniper Nest

CLEVELAND (AP)—"In our area, a man with a gun is as common as a family fight," said patrolman Thomas J. Smith.

Smith spoke Wednesday from a hospital bed. He is paralyzed from the hips down. He was shot July 23 and the call he started on that night ("man with a gun") was not a common one.

He and many other policemen were heading for a sniper's nest.

"As I headed toward the scene the radio said something about men with carbines," Smith said. "When I got there, I found tow truck supervisors Lt. Elmer Joseph and Sgt. Sam Levy stranded."

Fourteen police were wounded, 11 by gun shot wounds, and three were killed in the vicious exchange of gunfire with the snipers on the East Side.

Smith, 33, went on: "Sam was behind a car and Lt. Joseph was up on the curb. The fire was sporadic. As more cars came I ran to Lt. Joseph and dragged him across the street, about 40 feet from the house where the firing was coming from. I could see he had a couple gashes in his leg."

"Then I went after Sam. I dragged him from underneath the car and as I started to pick him up, I got shot in the right shoulder. I spun around and then was struck by crossfire and fell to the ground."

"It must have been 40 minutes that we were stranded there. I couldn't move. I was paralyzed from the shoulders down. Eventually we moved in equipment and we were rushed by ambulance to Forest City Hospital."

Patrolman Angelo Santa Maria had a similar story. He was shot trying to rescue Lt. Leroy Jones, who was killed.

Santa Maria asked for someone to volunteer to drive an auto beside the officer, who was lying on the sidewalk. James E. Chapman, 22, a Negro, volunteered. Santa Maria was wounded and Chapman killed in the rescue attempt.

Patrolman Richard G. Hart was another patrolman hit by the snipers.

"I was hit by a tracer," he said. "It knocked me right out into the street. Then they opened up on me for all they were worth. I yelled 'I'm hit' but Capt. Herbert Dregalla said 'we can't get to you.'"

Hart continued: "Then I started rolling around in a circle to keep them from getting a bead on me. I raised my left arm to shift my gun. I looked down and realized my arm was still on the ground. There was nothing holding it together but muscle."

Of the 11 policemen wounded, none is still critical. All are recovering from their wounds.

Spike Jones Widow Marries

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer Helen Grayco, widow of band leader Spike Jones, has married a New York restaurateur in a brief, single-ring ceremony at a Strip hotel.

Justice of the Peace Joseph Pavlikowski said he married Miss Grayco and William Rosen, 52, on Tuesday in a meeting room at Caesar's Palace. Reception guests included Debbie Reynolds and song writer Jimmie Van Heusen.

The bride wore a white lace dress trimmed with ostrich feathers. The hotel said the couple planned a world tour for their honeymoon.

Capt. Robb To Swap Combat Duty for Position on Staff

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Capt. Charles A. Robb, President Johnson's Marine son-in-law, is approaching the end of his tour of front-line combat duty and probably will be transferred to a staff post before the end of the summer.

He may serve the second half of his Vietnam assignment at the headquarters of his battalion, which is part of the 7th Marine Regiment.

His battalion commander, Lt. Col. Roger H. Barnard, 38, of Boulder, Colo., said Robb has been an exemplary officer while in command of a company fighting in the rugged country west of Da Nang.

Lynda Bird Robb's husband is one of the battalion's four rifle company commanders. Under a Marine "split tour rule" company commanders spend half their year in Vietnam in combat commands and half in staff posts.

Barnard said Robb's company "has been in combat 98 per cent of the time" since the 28-year-old captain took command of it last March.

Like almost every professional Marine captain, Robb prefers the command of a rifle company to a staff job and is not enthusiastic about the coming change, Barnard said.

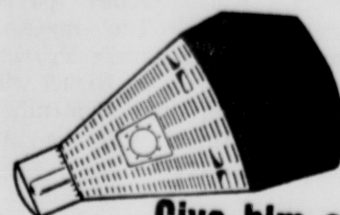

"His assignment has been to provide security for convoys, organize ambushes and patrols—occasionally of company size—and to take part in search and clear operations by the whole battalion," the colonel said.

"Frequently he went out on combat sweeps with one of his own platoons, acting as an observer and leave the platoon commander in charge."

Another Marine captain who served in combat with Robb reported after he returned to the United States that Robb was "well thought of by his troops."

He's a good leader trying to do his job like the rest of us, and he's not looking for any special treatment," said Capt. Richard Cavagnol, 26, of Overland Park, Kan. "He's just a regular Marine captain—polite and congenial, professionally competent and well thought of by his troops."

Pet Parade Held Between Showers

DOG TIRED — R. E., a bloodhound owned by Kyle Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Jones, Route 4, appears dog tired after participating in the Lion's Club pet parade.

Cloudy skies parted just long enough Wednesday for The Lions Club's annual pet parade and bicycle give away at the Pickaway County Fair.

Pet owners assembled in front of the Coliseum and awaited the start of the parade that carried them around the building back to the starting point. Then judging was conducted by Lion officials.

Here is the list of winners.
Typical Boy and Pet — 1. Robin Steely, 2. John Shipley, 3. Jack Phebus, 4. John McCoy.
Typical Girl and Pet — 1. Paula Kocher, 2. Carrie Teegardin, 3. Wendy McCullough, 4. Melissa Archer.

FUN FOR ALL — Wednesday was kiddy day at the Pickaway County Fair. Rides were fun for all, as attested by Greg White, Circleville.

New GM Plant Opens in Ohio

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Development Director F. P. Neuschwander represented Gov. James A. Rhodes at dedication ceremonies here Wednesday for a new General Motors Corp. division headquarters.

More than 200 civic, business and industry leaders were present as Edward N. Cole, GM president, dedicated the newly completed administrative building and engineering laboratories of the new Departure Hyatt Bearing Division.

Cole said an increase in the price of steel does not necessarily mean an increase in the price of 1969 cars.

"At the present time, we do not know all of the facts," Cole said. "Our pricing studies for the 1969 cars have not been completed and will not be finished until late September, just before the cars are introduced to the public."

Ohio Pen Guards Get Pay Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Compensation Board today approved immediate hazardous duty pay increases of about $12 a month for Ohio Penitentiary guards.

The one-step pay raise, which was equal to about a 5 per cent increase, was less than the immediate two-step pay raise requested by Martin A. Janis, director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections.

State Finance Director Howard Collier made the motion for the increase. He said the pay raises for Ohio Penitentiary guards should be granted to show the board's intent while awaiting a report from the state personnel department on all pay rates at Ohio institutions.

Collier said action on the report might come in November. Hershel Sigall, general counsel for Council 21 of the Public Employees Union, called the raise "totally inadequate" and said Collier's spirit in making the motion indicated that the increase was "symbolic."

Steel Pact Narrowly Gains Approval; Prices Increased

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union has wrapped up its richest contract—a billion-dollar-plus guarantee of labor peace for the next three years.

Hammered out in a month of secret negotiations, it was narrowly approved over strident objections Tuesday night, barely a day before a strike deadline at the end of the old agreement.

It will add between 90 cents and a dollar to the wages and benefits of the nation's 450,000 steelworkers. First estimates calculated the package as an increase of 6.5 per cent or better in each of the three years.

At mid-morning today, the U.S. Steel Corp. announced today changes in its tin mill product prices—increasing some and decreasing others—only hours after agreement was reached on a new steel industry labor contract.

U.S. Steel, the nation's biggest producer and often the pace-maker in domestic steel prices, said the new prices will take effect Oct. 1 and will remain in effect until April 1, 1969.

Tin mill products are used mostly for the production of cans for beer and other carbonated beverages.

Of the 83 million tons of steel shipped by the industry in 1967, tin mill products accounted for 6.6 million tons.

For the first time in years, some companies have been cutting prices to try to combat foreign steel, which sells for $25 to $40 a ton less than domestic steel. A new domestic price increase would only increase the gap.

I. W. Abel, president of the union, said the agreement would cost the industry "considerably in excess of one billion dollars." But he said it wasn't inflationary.

Inflation "is already here," he said. "We're only catching up."

Here are major provisions of the contract, which apparently falls within the 6 per cent pattern of major labor settlements this year.

Yearly wage increases of 20 cents, 12 cents and 12 cents for a total of 44 cents. Over the life of the contract, seven cents will be added to the top classifications for a total of 51 cents.

Pension improvements averaging 30 per cent, allowing a man with 30 years service to retire with a minimum of $195 a month, versus the old $150.

Incentive, or bonus, pay for workers not now covered for an average of 10 cents. The details will be worked out by a joint board, with appeals to arbitrators.

A $30 bonus for each week of vacation, and an extra three weeks of vacation for junior employees once every five years.

Supplementary unemployment benefits increased, effective Jan. 1, from the current maximum of $37.50 a week to $52.50 for workers also getting state benefits. After state benefits run out, a worker will get a maximum $80 a week compared to the current $60. Also, adjustments in other formulas to raise benefits about 10 per cent.

Liberalized medical insurance, life insurance, bereavement pay, an additional paid holiday, trial witness pay and increased night and overnight differentials.

"From the standpoint of an economic package, it is the largest that has been negotiated in steel," Abel said.

Steelworkers averaged $3.84 in May. The industry claims fringe benefits added $1.09 to the cost.

An increase in the price of mill products was announced today by Bethlehem Steel Corp.

Bethlehem said the increases of "slightly less than five per cent" are effective Aug. 8 and affect base prices only.

Marlon Brando's Marriage Ends

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—During a closed-door court hearing, the eight-year marriage of actor Marlon Brando and Mexican actress Movita Castaneda has been annulled.

Miss Castaneda was awarded custody of the couple's two children, Sergio, 7, and Rebecca, 2. Brando, who previously had been married to actress Anna Kafsh, was married secretly to Miss Castaneda in 1960.

Grounds for the action on Friday were that Miss Castaneda's husband was still living and she had not been legally divorced from him at the time of the marriage. Details of a property settlement were not made public.

Ohio Pen Guards Get Pay Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Compensation Board today approved immediate hazardous duty pay increases of about $12 a month for Ohio Penitentiary guards.

The one-step pay raise, which was equal to about a 5 per cent increase, was less than the immediate two-step pay raise requested by Martin A. Janis, director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections.

State Finance Director Howard Collier made the motion for the increase. He said the pay raises for Ohio Penitentiary guards should be granted to show the board's intent while awaiting a report from the state personnel department on all pay rates at Ohio institutions.

Collier said action on the report might come in November. Hershel Sigall, general counsel for Council 21 of the Public Employees Union, called the raise "totally inadequate" and said Collier's spirit in making the motion indicated that the increase was "symbolic."

At mid-morning today, the U.S. Steel Corp. announced today changes in its tin mill product prices—increasing some and decreasing others—only hours after agreement was reached on a new steel industry labor contract.

U.S. Steel, the nation's biggest producer and often the pace-maker in domestic steel prices, said the new prices will take effect Oct. 1 and will remain in effect until April 1, 1969.

Steel Pact Narrowly Gains Approval; Prices Increased

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union has wrapped up its richest contract—a billion-dollar-plus guarantee of labor peace for the next three years.

Hammered out in a month of secret negotiations, it was narrowly approved over strident objections Tuesday night, barely a day before a strike deadline at the end of the old agreement.

It will add between 90 cents and a dollar to the wages and benefits of the nation's 450,000 steelworkers. First estimates calculated the package as an increase of 6.5 per cent or better in each of the three years.

Cardinals Open Insurmountable NL Lead

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
July 1776—the month the United States declared its independence. July 1968—the month the St. Louis Cardinals freed themselves from the rest of the National League.

The Cardinals began the month with a 5-1 victory over Los Angeles and a 6½-game lead over second-place Atlanta.

They ended it Wednesday night with a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia and an almost insurmountable 14½-game bulge over runner-up Cincinnati.

In making the Fourth of July firecracker look like a real firecracker, the Cardinals ripped off 24 victories in 30 games and they didn't care how they did it.

Take Wednesday night's game against Philadelphia.

Lou Brock singled and stole second in the seventh inning. Julian Javier bunted and pitcher Woody Fryman threw him out, with Brock going to third. But Brock didn't stop there, he kept right on running and beat first baseman Bill White's throw home for what proved to be the winning run.

Atlanta edged the New York Mets 3-2, Cincinnati trounced Pittsburgh 8-2 and then was walloped 10-1 by the Pirates. Chicago topped Houston 6-1 and Los Angeles tripped San Francisco 6-3 in other National League games.

Mike Shannon doubled in the first St. Louis run and Brock singled home the other. Clay Dalrymple's sacrifice fly and Richie Allen's single produced the runs for the Phillies, who have lost four straight and 15 of the last 18.

It was all Hank Aaron in Atlanta's victory over New York. The Braves slugger doubled home his club's first two runs and then snapped a 2-2 tie with an RBI single.

Cincinnati scored four runs in the first inning on singles by Pete Rose, Vada Pinson and Tony Perez. Johnny Bench's double and an error en route to its first-game victory.

Pittsburgh came back to take the nightcap with a 16-hit attack and the second triple play in the major leagues in two days.

After Lee May and Perez walked in the fourth inning, Tommy Helms lined to shortstop Gene Alley. Alley threw to second baseman Bill Mazeroski, doubling up May, and Mazeroski threw to first to get Perez. Ron Hansen of Washington made an unassisted triple play Tuesday night against Cleveland.

CHS Track Star Receives Grant-in-Aid

Larry Payne, SCOL record broad jumper from Circleville High School, has signed a letter of intent to participate in cross country and track at Ashland College, Ashland, O.

Payne received a grant-in-aid, a parttime job and a loan, all arranged by Ashland track coach Meade Burnett. His track duties will include broad jumping, triple jumping and possibly hurdling.

As a senior at CHS in 1967, Payne, son of Mrs. Norma Jean Payne, 37½ E. Franklin St., set a school, league and field record in the broad jump event at Wilmington. He also won the 440-yard dash.

This year he attended the Ohio University branch at Chillicothe. He kept up on his track ability by participating in five meets at Ohio State University unattached.

HIS highest finish was two weeks ago in an outdoor meet when he jumped second. He also participated in his first triple jump.

Payne plans to major in physical education at Ashland with a minor in mathematics. He plans to leave Sept. 14 for Ashland.

Taxidermists Cautioned by Game Protector

Fred A. Schob, Circleville, district one enforcement supervisor, for the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife, cautions persons engaged in taxidermy, either professionally or as a hobby, to be careful of what specimens they accept from their customers for mounting.

"Many requests are received by taxidermist to mount birds of prey such as hawks and owls which have been shot, said Schob. Ohio law provides that any hawk or owl doing damage to property may be killed. There is no provision in the law which allows possession of these birds as mounted specimens.

Possession of these non-game birds, either as mounts or alive, is just as illegal as having a robin or cardinal under the same conditions."

"There is also the person who wants a hawk or an owl for a den trophy and shoots it thinking he can get it mounted. Wildlife officers will do everything possible to apprehend these thoughtless hunters, said Schob. So, unless damage is being inflicted by these predators upon your property, leave them alone."

Cincinnati Splits With Pittsburgh

CINCINNATI (AP) — Both the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cincinnati Reds pleaded fatigue in not being able to sweep the doubleheader at Cincinnati Wednesday night — but they weren't complaining.

As it was, they settled for a split — Cincinnati posting an 8-2 victory in the first game and Pittsburgh capturing the second 10-1.

Reds Manager Dave Bristol said: "We played five games in three days and since we only have nine pitchers able to work, we did all right."

Pittsburgh's second-game victory broke Cincinnati's five-game winning streak. The Pirates pummeled the three Reds pitchers for 16 hits.

The Pirates also shocked the Reds with a triple play in the fourth inning after starter Dock Ellis walked Lee May and Tony Perez. Shortstop Gene Alley then grabbed Tommy Helms' liner and tossed to second baseman Bill Mazeroski who got May. Mazeroski relayed to first to erase Perez for the third out.

Don Clendenon slammed a solo homer in the sixth and then tripled in another run in the ninth. Roberto Clemente hit his 12th homer of the season.

Reds' starter Jay Ritchie, known solely for his relief work, took the loss — his first decision of the year.

It was all Cincinnati in the first game as the Reds knocked Pittsburgh for 13 hits behind Gerry Arrigo's five-hit-ter.

The Reds went ahead 4-0 in the first on key singles by Vada Pinson and Tony Perez and a double by Johnny Bench. A throwing error against Alley allowed the fourth run.

Sandbaggers Gain Lead in Lansdowne Loop

The Sandbaggers moved into first place in the Uper Lansdowne Golf League Wednesday with a total of 49 points.

Members of the team are Walt Baker, Paul Francis, Jay Bastian, Dick Buskirk. In second place are the Slicers, only one point behind in the standings with 48 points.

The Parbustars are third with 46 points. Joe Leatherwood carded the low gross score of 36 Wednesday. Greg Peck and Jay Bastian tied for low net, both with 32s.

The second round of the Pickaway Country Club-Upper Lansdowne Open will be held Saturday morning at the PCC.

Mud Hens Shut Out Louisville

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Overpowering pitching is threatening to make Toledo's Mud Hens runaway winners in the International League's 1968 pennant race.

Toledo has won its last seven games, and in five of the last six. Mud Hen pitchers have tossed shutouts. Wednesday night, Dick Radatz stopped Louisville, 4-0, with a three-hitter.

Jacksonville, a 5-2 winner over Syracuse Wednesday night; Columbus, a 13-3 victor over Buffalo, and Rochester, a 4-2 loser at Richmond, each now trails the Mud Hens by ½ games.

Columbus banged out 19 hits in pole-axing Buffalo. Chris Cannizzaro knocking in six runs with a pair of three-run homers and Jack Damaska collecting four RBI's with a homer and a sacrifice fly.

Lambert Set For All-Star Grid Contest

Craig Lambert, two-way tackle who anchored the 1967 Circleville Tiger grid team to a 10-0 season and an eighth place ranking in the state, departed last week for Canton to compete in the Prep All-Star North-South football game.

Lambert is staying at Onesto Hotel in Canton with the other 27 members on the South All-Stars, coached by Dick Haines. Practice will be held each day until the Aug. 9 clash at Fawcett Stadium, Canton.

The 230-pound 6-foot Lambert, a 1968 graduate of Circleville High School, is the son of Mrs. Louise Lambert, 68 Bolens Avenue. In high school, Lambert played football for four years and baseball, four years.

He was selected to All-SCOL and Prep All-America teams for his gridiron performances during his senior year.

LAMBERT was active in school activities as well. He was a member of English Merit Society and National Honor Society, graduating with honors.

He plans to attend Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., in the school of Hotel Administration. His plans also include varsity football.

Lambert is working this summer as a helper with J.E. Peters Painting Contractors.

Ticket information may be obtained by writing Jim Robinson, director of the Ohio High School Coaches Assn., 1003 28th St., NE, Canton, O. 44714.

Hall of Fame Grid Game Set Saturday

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The Chicago Bears take the field for the first time under head coach Jim Dooley Saturday when they meet the Dallas Cowboys in the annual Pro Football Hall of Fame Game.

Seven new members will be inducted into the hall.

Dooley, 38, took over last winter when George Halas retired after 39 years in coaching. Dooley has been a member of the Bears since 1952, the first nine years as a player, then as an assistant after he retired.

The new inductees will bring to 54 the number enshrined in the hall. This year's members are:

Cliff Battles, halfback with the Boston Braves, Boston Redskins and Washington Redskins; Art Donovan, who played defensive tackle for the Baltimore Colts, New York Yanks and Dallas Texans; Elroy (Crazylegs) Hirsch, end and halfback with the Chicago Rockets and Los Angeles Rams; Wayne Millner, end for the Boston and Washington Redskins.

Marion Motley, Cleveland Browns and Pittsburgh Steelers' fullback; Charlie Trippi, halfback-quarterback for the Chicago Cardinals; and Alex Wojciechowski, center-linebacker with the Detroit Lions and Philadelphia Eagles.

Boston Red Sox Acquire Robinson

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox have acquired Floyd Robinson for left-handed pinch hitting duties, and released veteran Norm Siebern, who was used primarily in the same capacity.

Robinson was purchased Wednesday night from the Oakland Athletics. The 32-year-old outfielder has hit over 300 three times in his major league career, most recently in 1964, but has tailed off during the past few seasons.

Cardinals Open Insurmountable NL Lead

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
July 1776—the month the United States declared its independence. July 1968—the month the St. Louis Cardinals freed themselves from the rest of the National League.
The Cardinals began the month with a 5-1 victory over Los Angeles and a 6½-game lead over second-place Atlanta. They ended it Wednesday night with a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia and an almost insurmountable 14½-game bulge over runner-up Cincinnati.
In making the Fourth of July firecracker look like a real fizzle, the Cardinals ripped off 24 victories in 30 games and they didn't care how they did it.

Take Wednesday night's game against Philadelphia.
Lou Brock singled and stole second in the seventh inning. Julian Javier bunted and pitcher Woody Fryman threw him out, with Brock going to third. But Brock didn't stop there, he kept right on running and beat first baseman Bill White's throw home for what proved to be the winning run.

Atlanta edged the New York Mets 3-2, Cincinnati trounced Pittsburgh 8-2 and then was

CHS Track Star Receives Grant-in-Aid

Larry Payne, SCOL record broad jumper from Circleville High School, has signed a letter of intent to participate in cross country and track at Ashland College, Ashland, O.
Payne received a grant-in-aid, a parttime job and a loan, all arranged by Ashland track coach Meade Burnett. His track duties will include broad jumping, triple jumping and possibly hurdling.
As a senior at CHS in 1967, Payne, son of Mrs. Norma Jean Payne, 375½ E. Franklin St., set a school, league and field record in the broad jump event at Wilmington. He also won the 440-yard dash.
This year he attended the Ohio University branch at Chillicothe. He kept up on his track ability by participating in five meets at Ohio State University unattached.

HIS highest finish was two weeks ago in an outdoor meet when he jumped second. He also participated in his first triple jump.
Payne plans to major in physical education at Ashland with a minor in mathematics. He plans to leave Sept. 14 for Ashland.

Taxidermists Cautioned by Game Protector

Fred A. Schob, Circleville, district one enforcement supervisor, for the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife, cautions persons engaged in taxidermy, either professionally or as a hobby, to be careful of what specimens they accept from their customers for mounting.
"Many requests are received by taxidermist to mount birds of prey such as hawks and owls which have been shot, said Schob. Ohio law provides that any hawk or owl doing damage to property may be killed. There is no provision in the law which allows possession of these birds as mounted specimens.
Possession of these non-game birds, either as mounts or alive, is just as illegal as having a robin or cardinal under the same conditions."
"There is also the person who wants a hawk or an owl for a den trophy and shoots it thinking he can get it mounted. Wildlife officers will do everything possible to apprehend these thoughtless hunters, said Schob. So, unless damage is being inflicted by these predators upon your property, leave them alone."

Tigers Defeat Washington, 4-0

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Denny McLain and the Detroit Tigers are showing nothing but their heels to nine American League laggards. But there's still plenty of catch-up left in the also-rans... when they tangle with each other.

Pro Football Exhibitions Slated Tonight, Saturday

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pro football has passed another out-of-date date with several minor trades, many rookies sent packing and a few star holdouts, star injuries and star retirements. And now it's away we go with the start of the exhibition season tonight.

The Washington Redskins play Houston under the Astro-dome and the New Orleans Saints meet the Los Angeles Rams in Anaheim, kicking off the preseason schedule, followed by the College All-Star struggle against Green Bay Friday night.

Four more games are set for Saturday: the Chicago Bears and Dallas at Canton, Ohio, in the afternoon, and Baltimore at Oakland, San Francisco at San Diego and Kansas City at Cincinnati at night.

The Redskins will be without Sonny Jurgensen, the National Football League's 1967 passing champion who is recuperating

While the front-running Tigers topped past Washington 4-0 Wednesday night for McLain's 21st victory of the season, the Oakland Athletics, Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees were winning games on ninth-inning comebacks.

The A's completed a double-header sweep by overtaking California 4-3 on Ted Kubiak's two-run triple in the ninth after winning the opener 4-1 on a three-run homer by Mike Hershberger in the eighth.

The White Sox spotted Minnesota an 8-1 lead, then fought back behind an 18-hit attack and extra points kicked. The teams will test a new system in which all extra points must be made by passing or running.

The Rams rule the favorite over the Saints, despite the absence of key personnel. Defensive end Deacon Jones and offensive end Jack Snow are involved in contract disputes and defensive end Lamar Lundy and linebacker Maxie Baughan are recuperating from off-season surgery.

College All-Stars Ready For Big Clash with Packers

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars, as Coach Norm Van Brocklin says, probably are "apprehensive" about tackling the Green Bay Packers in the 35th All-Star football game Friday night.

"But if they play football and find out Green Bay is like everybody else, we'll be all right," said Van Brocklin, a hard-bitten product of the pro ranks making his All-Star coaching debut.

Van Brocklin, former coach of the Minnesota Vikings and once a star National Football League quarterback, will send an able crew of 50 collegiate stars of 1967 against the giants of the northland.

Led by a pair of talented quarterbacks, Gary Beban of UCLA and Greg Landry of Massachusetts, the All-Stars may avert a third straight shutout by the Packers.

But the oddsmakers tab the Packers a 19-point favorite to hand the collegians their 24th setback against only 9 victories and 2 ties in the historic series sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

"I suspect our kids are apprehensive about this game, but I have a feeling they came to play," said Van Brocklin, whose Vikings never were shutout, won twice and dropped two squeakers to the Packers in 12 meetings.

The former Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles quarterback said he would not announce any starting lineups for the contest to be played before an estimated 60,000 in Soldier Field.

"They are All Stars and everybody will play," said Van Brocklin, adding he intended to platoon Beban and Landry at quarterback and that both would see a lot of action.

K of C Needs Extra Frames To Produce Win

Knights of Columbus came up with three runs in the second extra frame to down Circleville Lumber, 8-5, in the teams' final game of the Mosquito League season.

K of C fought back with two runs in the fourth and three in the fifth to put the game in overtime. The sixth inning blanked on both sides, as did the seventh.

Then in the top of the eighth Toren Bensonhaver and Scott Bauer singled for K of C, Brian Edgington tripled and Kelly Hill doubled to bring across three runs.

Edgington and Hill worked the mound route for the winners, who finished with a 4-5 mark on the season. They walked eight, fanned 17 and allowed seven hits.

Gary Wolford and Allen split chores for Circleville Lumber, also 4-5 issuing four bases on balls, striking out 18 and allowing 13 hits.

Edgington tripled twice and doubled and Hill tripled and doubled twice for the winners. Liam Rooney and Wolford both doubled for the Lumbermen.

Jim Osborne Tops Stan Smith

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — National Collegiate champion Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., was one of the victims of a small rash of upsets which broke out Wednesday at the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships.

Smith's Davis Cup teammate, Jim Osborne of Honolulu, upset the sixth-ranked player 6-3, 6-4, by winning the only serviced break in each set.

McLain, 21-3, scattered four hits and struck out nine as Detroit maintained its seven-game spread over second-place Baltimore.

Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline set the offensive pace for the Tigers. McAuliffe cracked a single, two doubles and his 14th homer and scored all the runs. Kaline contributed two doubles, a single and two RBI.

In the nightcap at Oakland the A's fell behind 3-1 in the seventh when California's Tom Satriano and Jim Fregosi slapped run-scoring singles. John Donaldson's infield hit scored Rick Monday in the bottom of the seventh, but the A's still were one run down with one out in the ninth.

Then Jim Gosger walked and Bert Campaneris singled, chasing reliever Marty Pattin, and Kubiak greeted Angels' ace Jim McGlothlin with a drive off the center field fence, scoring the tying and winning runs.

Hershberger unloaded his second homer of the year following a walk and Sal Bando's single in the eighth inning of the twilight game. The blast broke up a pitching duel between winner Catfish Hunter and Angels rookie Bill Harrelson.

Runners Scores From 2nd on Bunt PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It's not often a runner scores from second base on a bunt, but Lou Brock did it for the St. Louis Cardinals against the Phillies Wednesday night.

It happened in the seventh inning and turned out to be the winning run as the National League leaders beat the Phils 3-2 to close out July with a 24-6 record.

Brock singled in the seventh and stole second. Julian Javier bunted along the third base line and Philadelphia pitcher Woody Fryman picked up the ball and got Javier at first. Meanwhile, Brock never broke stride around third and easily beat the throw home.

Johnson Has Champion And Reserve Shorthorn

Second half of the Junior Fair Beef Show, beef breeding contest, was judged Wednesday afternoon at the Pickaway County Fair.

Yesterday morning judge Richard Sour completed judging of the steer classes and picked the grand champion steer. Judging in the afternoon was done in the order of Angus, Hereford and Shorthorn.

Steve Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Johnson, Route 2, Williamsport, had both grand champion and reserve champion Shorthorn entries in beef breeding. He won summer yearling and junior yearling classes in competition.

Champion Angus was shown by Loretta Long and reserve champion by Artie Dick. Tina Cottrill's summer yearling Hereford was judged best of her division and bill hines had reserve champion Hereford.

Future Farmers of Monroe had the best group of four. Junior showmanship winner was Phil Karn while Steve Hines was named senior showmanship winner.

Here is the complete list of winners in the show.

Chicago OEO Program Cut Off from Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — An antipoverty program to rehabilitate Chicago street gangs has been cut off from its last trickle of federal dollars in the wake of a Senate controversy involving sex and drugs.

The Office of Economic Opportunity ruled Wednesday against any extension for the skeleton staff remaining from the $927,000 project. The move signaled almost certain disapproval of a separate application for $1 million still pending to resume the program.

Senate hearings produced testimony last month that antipoverty training centers had been used to store weapons and hold sex and narcotics parties. The Senate voted 80-0 to cite a gang leader for contempt after he refused to answer questions and walked out of the hearings.

The pilot program was designed to try to teach job skills to gang members of the Blackstone Rangers and the Devil's Disciples. It was halted in May, but three staff members had remained until Wednesday.

Antipoverty officials pointed out the gang leaders kept the Woodlawn area of Chicago calm after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The Rev. Arthur Brazier, head of The Woodlawn Organization which sponsored the program and applied for the $1 million renewal grant, told the senators that staff members had found no signs of guns, liquor or narcotics in the centers. But he did concede difficulties in trying to teach the gang members.

4 Massacres Are Reported In Red China

HONG KONG (AP) — Detailed reports reached Hong Kong today of four "bloody massacres" in which hundreds of persons were killed and thousands wounded in a small southern China county by a 1,300-man rightist force equipped with mortars, machine guns, rocket launchers and other weapons.

The Canton newspaper Chien-chu Hing-lin said an "army of cutthroat murderers led by antirevolutionary butcher Yu Feng Ching attacked our revolutionary headquarters" in Yangchiang County, Kungtung Province during April and May.

There was no confirmation of the reports which were the most detailed to come out of Kwangtung since violence exploded in that province early this year.

Seattle Police Report Outbreak

SEATTLE (AP) — Police arrested 68 persons Wednesday night as rock throwing and fire bombing broke out in the city's predominantly Negro central area for the third straight night.

There were isolated reports of gunfire, but police said they had no reports of anyone being hit. Police said the fire sounded like it came from both small automatic weapons and automatic rifles.

A portable unit at an elementary school, a drive-in and a drugstore were targets of fire bombs. A number of grass fires were reported. A civilian motorcycle and a car also were set afire.

U.S. Admits Radar Signal Misreadings

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command confirmed today that erroneous radar readings and poor coordination among the services caused the air-sea snafu in June when allied ships were mistaken for enemy helicopters and nine American and Australian sailors were lost.

It was believed at the time that North Vietnamese helicopters for the first time had been used at the east end of the demilitarized zone, but the report by the U.S. Command said that no evidence has been produced of enemy helicopter action near the DMZ.

The report said so far there appeared to be no grounds for disciplinary action against anyone.

The allied planes on separate occasions actually hit the U.S. cruiser Boston and the Australian destroyer Hobart and sank a U.S. Navy patrol boat. Three other patrol craft were fired on but were not damaged. Two Australian sailors were killed and seven wounded; the bodies of two of the crewmen of the U.S. patrol boat were recovered, while five other crewmen are missing.

Expect GOP Platform Call For Smaller U.S. Viet Role

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Republican platform will call for a smaller U.S. role in the Vietnam war, but will say American forces should not be pulled out without a satisfactory settlement.

It will bear down hard on crime in the streets and organized underworld activity, insisting on more leeway for enforcement methods.

It will call for new approaches to the problems of poverty and deteriorating city life, with heavy emphasis on promoting ownership of homes and businesses, giving private industry incentives to train and employ ghetto dwellers and streamlining government programs.

It will deplore unbalanced budgets and inflation, holding out hope of future tax cuts.

These were among the clear indications of the mood of the Republican platform committee today and begins writing the document the GOP presidential candidate will take to the voters in November.

A onetime major figure in this year's nomination race, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, offered recommendations for the platform ranging from a Vietnam policy to revision of labor laws.

Romney called in prepared testimony for a declaration of conscience pledging action at every level behalf of "the legal and moral equality of citizens." The platform-writers go to work today on a tentative draft. Some of its outlines emerged from their public and private comments and the reception accorded key testimony.

Vietnam—A broadly worded plank is shaping up that will call for efforts to end the war but stay well within the warning sounded by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower against "camouflaged surrender." There will be pledges against permitting a similar involvement to develop unforeseen elsewhere.

While key Republicans differed widely as to how far the United States should go in either concessions of stern measures to hasten the end of the war, no candidate or faction has insisted on a particular blueprint in the platform—to the privately expressed relief of the platform writers. The statement will be general enough to allow any likely candidate to accept it and develop his own specifics as he campaigns.

Crime—The Republicans are preparing blasts at the Democratic administration for what they say is an upsurge of crime in recent years. The platform will call for sterner enforcement, including use of electronic surveillance of criminal gangs. It will say also that better use could be made of the motion that underworld figures, once promised immunity against prosecution, should be forced under contempt penalties to give testimony against others.

In general, the Republicans are expected to hammer hard a contention that a switch in attitude is needed, with protection of society rated high.

Poverty and city problems—Platform committeemen privately have rated this plank one of the hardest to write, in part because urban and antipoverty programs cost billions and the party bent is for holding down government spending.

The platform is considered certain to dwell on two ideas: more use of private business to train and employ unskilled and alienated central city dwellers, with tax incentives to urge the industries on; and government-aided efforts to help those now living hand to mouth to become owners of homes and businesses.

Another GOP tenet certain to be restated is that welfare and social aid programs are far too numerous and overlapping and should be streamlined to save administrative funds and operate more efficiently.

Proposals for a guaranteed income, through a "negative income tax" or otherwise, are given little chance of being placed in the platform—even though some Republicans have toyed with versions of them.

Fiscal policy—Republicans are redoubling their standing criticism of Democratic administrations as wasteful spenders.

Rome Starts Traffic Control

ROME (AP) — Morning rush hour traffic rolled smoothly through central Rome today in sharp contrast to the chaotic jams usual in recent years. Police began enforcing a ban on most parking in an area of 16 square miles from 7 to 10 a.m. and from 3 to 5 p.m.

"I have given more tickets today than before," said one policeman, "and I think the plan may work."

Many Romans left their cars at home today and adopted a wait and see attitude, but merchants of Via Nazionale, where many of the better boutiques and shops are located, complained to Mayor Rinaldo Ossola that the ban discriminates against them.

KIDDIE DAY AT THE FAIR — The midway was crowded with youngsters during Kiddie Day at the Fair Wednesday afternoon. Gooding Amusement Co. reduced prices on all rides and the Circleville Lions Club sponsored their annual pet parade and bicycle give away. Rain failed to thin the crowd for very long as fairgoers ran for shelter until the cloudburst subsided.

LUCKY BICYCLE WINNERS — Winners of the bicycles given away in a drawing by Circleville Lions Club were Keith Alcorn, 5½, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Alcorn, Route 4 and Mary Jane Schneider, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Schneider, Route 3. Drawing was held following the pet parade at the Pickaway County Fair Wednesday.
